

TESTIMONY IS TAKEN IN SCHMITZ TRIAL

Sensational Opening Address by Prosecutor Heney

DESCRIBES VISITS TO FRENCH RESTAURANTS

Ex-Police Commissioner Reagan on Witness-Stand

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The actual trial of Eugene E. Schmitz on the first of the five Grand Jury indictments accusing him and Abraham Ruef of extorting money from the local French restaurant keepers under threat to permanently deprive them of their liquor licenses, was begun this morning in the presence of a crowd of spectators which filled the auditorium room of the Bush street temple to overflowing. Prior to the commencement by Assistant District Attorney Heney of his opening address to the jury, all witnesses were excluded from the temporary courtroom and all of them but former Police Commissioners Reagan, Poheim and Hutton were excused until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

HENEY'S DUTY.
"Gentlemen of the jury," said Mr. Heney, "it is my duty as Assistant District Attorney to outline to you at this time what it is the prosecution expects to prove in this case, to enable you to understand evidence that will be produced here and to weigh one piece of evidence as against another in arriving at a verdict."

"Each one of you is now a part of the machinery of the law, sworn to perform his duty as we are sworn to perform ours, impartially. We expect to prove that we are performing ours in that way, notwithstanding anything that may have been said in the heat of advocacy by attorneys on the other side. You are to try the defendant, Schmitz, and him only, who stands here accused jointly with Abraham Ruef of the crime of extorting from Joseph Malfanti the sum of $1175 under the fear of a threat that he would be deprived of his license to sell liquor and his business be thereby injured if he did not pay this sum."

WHAT HE EXPECTS TO PROVE.
"We expect to prove to this jury that the defendant Schmitz in November, 1901, became the candidate of the union labor party, then first created, for the office of mayor of the City and County of San Francisco. That the convention which nominated him was made up of delegates from the defendant unions, and that they and the party they represented were acting independently of any advice by Ruef. We shall show that Schmitz sought and secured the influence of Ruef, who had become his friend, to aid him in securing his second nomination, and that Ruef supported him and furnished him with money and thereby won his confidence and gratitude and became his advisor politically."

MAYOR'S LETTER.
"We shall show that Schmitz in a published letter and in published interviews announced that he owed much of his political success to Ruef and expected to be aided very largely by Ruef's advice during his stay in office."

From this Mr. Heney went on to describe the make-up of the Board of Police Commissioners and how the personnel in the board in the mayor's second term was determined largely by Ruef's influence, that in 1904, at the commencement of the mayor's second term, the board was composed of Commissioners Howell, Drinkhouse, Hutton and Reagan, the first named being a holdover from the Phelan administration.

LIBELERS SHOULD BE GIVEN COAT OF TAR

Reports were sent out of Oakland early this morning to the effect that this city had suffered from a heavy earthquake at 12:30 a. m. Some of these reports were of a very lurid character and they will have a great tendency to injure the city. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce should be appointed to hunt down the scoundrels who send out such reports and give them a fine coat of tar with a feather accompaniment. These liars and libelers should be given a dose of the "medicine of truth," such as can be applied by the tar solution.

Now for the facts. A very slight shock of earthquake was felt this morning. Not a spear of grass was shaken down and nine-tenths of our people did not feel the slight motion. Not a dollar's worth of damage was done in the city. In fact, Oakland never was damaged much by any earthquake. We don't get the shakes here because we are on the mountain side.

150 Strike-Breakers Leave For the East

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—One hundred and fifty men who were brought here from the East by the United Railroads to fill the places of striking carmen left the city on east-bound trains last night. The term for which they had contracted had expired and they refused to sign new contracts calling for the running of cars at night.

Good Samaritan Is Accused of Theft

By acting the good Samaritan yesterday, a thief stole $20 from the pockets of John Healey of Martinez, who was stricken with a fit in the Seventh street depot of the Southern Pacific company. Healey was seized with a violent fit and a man nearby rushed to his aid. When Healey recovered his money was missing and he reported the theft to the police.

Well, Well, Boys No Longer Play Hookey

Seventy-five per cent of the truancy in this city has been stopped in the past term, according to C. E. Merwin, attendant officer, as the law calls him, or "hookey cop," as the small boys shout. Merwin has been acting as truant officer of the local school department and he declares that most of the children in this city are now going to school, without being forced to do so.

By JOSEPH E. BAKER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A sharp shock of earthquake celebrated the selection of the Schmitz jury. It is a good jury as far as external appearances go. Whether it is a fair jury is another matter. The Mayor was certainly shown no favors in its selection, as the rule of bias and prejudice was drawn sharply against and quite loosely in favor of the prosecution, hence it cannot be assumed that Schmitz will be treated with undue leniency in the verdict.

I have known Judge Dunne for upward of twenty years, and am convinced that he is an absolutely honest man in the pecuniary sense; however, he is rather narrow in his views, intense in his prejudices, and strong in his partisanship. As to his legal ability, I have small knowledge, as his practice was limited and confined to minor cases prior to his election to the bench.

He is temperate and irreproachable in his habits. If he were my friend, I should be glad to trust my case in his hands, but if he were my enemy, I should prefer to go before some other judge. His ruling during the selection of the jury clearly indicates, I think, how he regards Schmitz. Unfortunately there is bitter personal antagonism between Judge Dunne and John J. Barrett, one of the attorneys for the defense, which antagonism has manifested itself in displays of ill feeling on both sides at different times during the graft proceedings.

The court room was crowded this morning when the case was called. As usual, Rudolph Spreckels sat with J. J. Dwyer beside the detectives and behind the attorneys for the prosecution. Both he and Burns listened intently to Heney's opening.

It was not a striking forensic effort, but it was clear and connected, and with all its plainness was rather an artful narration of the circumstances connected with the alleged blackmailing of the French restaurants. Incidentally, H. W. Hutton, whom Schmitz appointed Police Commissioner, and subsequently dismissed for misconduct in office, was held up as the victim of a conspiracy on the part of Schmitz and Ruef, to ruin his reputation and disgrace him in the eyes of the community. Hutton will be a star witness for the prosecution.

Thomas Reagan and Doc Poheim, also appointed Police Commissioners, and subsequently dismissed for misconduct, were pictured as the graft agents of Ruef and the Mayor. It is understood that Heney relies largely on statements which they allege Schmitz made to them to secure a conviction.

Considerable comment was adroitly woven in Heney's statement of what he expected to prove. At one time Heney lapsed so pronouncedly into the summing up vein that Campbell objected to his making an argument in the opening statement.

Judge Dunne said nothing, but Heney said he would try to keep argument out of his remarks. He characterized the written contract between the French restaurant keepers and Ruef, whereby the latter was engaged as an attorney for two years at a salary of $5000 a year, as a blind to cover a blackmailing operation.

Gene Loupy, proprietor of The Pup, was denounced as an agent of Ruef in his scheme of graft.

When ex-Police Commissioner Reagan passed up the aisle to take the stand, one of the San Francisco reporters remarked to his neighbor: "Reagan is dressed up today. He has got on a new suit and a clean shirt."

Reagan is a tall man with a typical Irish face of the dark type. From his brogue, I should say he came from west of the Shannon down toward Limerick way. His chin is short, his cheek bones high and his eyes deep set with heavy brows. His manner was what Pat Ready, the famous one-armed lawyer, would term "old-fashioned."

It is a description that fits, but it is hard to explain in words. He spoke softly and was not at all voluble or rapid in utterance. His testimony was not sensational and was given without much sparring between the attorneys.

Reagan's former connection with the police commission reminds me that a member of the Citizens' Alliance informed me, coming over on the boat, that a good many in his organization hoped to get Elisor W. J. Biggy made chief of police. I said the proposition seemed absurd under existing circumstances, but my informant replied, "It is not so absurd as you imagine. If Schmitz can be gotten rid of we can get a police commission that will make Biggy chief."

This set me to thinking. Biggy's laundry does the washing for the Oceanic Steamship Company. Biggy was once a police commissioner and was removed by Mayor Phelan because he insisted on acting as chief while sitting as a member of the board.

REAGAN ON WITNESS-STAND

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The auditorium of the Jewish Synagogue on Bush street was crowded to its limits this morning when the hour arrived for the beginning of the actual trial of Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz on the charge of extorting money from local French restaurateurs on the threat to prevent the renewal of their liquor licenses.

By request of Assistant District Attorney Heney the court instructed all witnesses to retire, and all of them, except former Police Commissioners Hutton, Reagan and Poheim were excused until tomorrow morning.

Opening Statement Made By Prosecutor Heney.

This was taken as notice that these, and not Ruef, will be the first witnesses called. At 10:30 o'clock Mr. Heney began his opening statement to the jury. At great length and with extreme minuteness he laid before the jury the plot, as alleged by the prosecution, on the part of the mayor and Ruef to "carry on a systematic scheme of blackmail" through the instrumentality of the police

How a Pure Young Girl Was Secured to Cause Downfall of Officials!

TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENCE.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The jury in the trial of Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, on a charge of felony, filed in the court this morning a minute before 10 o'clock, and when the hour to which the adjournment of yesterday had been taken arrived, the twelve men who are to try the case are in the box waiting for proceedings to commence.

James E. Burns, however, did not enter the court room until 10:10 o'clock. The temple was crowded, every settee being occupied with an expectant auditor. Among those so gathered several ladies.

While awaiting the appearance of the judge, a burst of conversation pervaded the place, though not a few of the spectators passed the time in making a study of the twelve men who had been called to pass upon the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

The roll of the jury was called and all the members were found present.

WITNESSES ORDERED OUT.
At the suggestion of Mr. Heney Judge Dunn ordered the witnesses in the case to step outside the court room.

Heney said he would ask Commissioner Reagan, Pohlman and Hutton to remain close at hand because they would perhaps be called during the morning, the other witnesses would be excused till this afternoon.

He asked that the witnesses for the defendant be also excused.

Campbell said there were no witnesses for the defendant present.

Mr. Heney then proceeded to make his opening statement to the jury.

HENEY'S STATEMENT.
Up to the present time, he said, the prosecution had rested upon the District Attorney's office. Now the jury, under their oath, would have to take part in it. The prosecution had done and would continue to do its duty regardless of charges made in the heat of arguments to the contrary. That there had been motive connected with it.

The charge was extortion of $1175 from Joseph Malasante, a French restaurant proprietor, under threat that if that amount of money was not paid, the Delmonico restaurant, with which Malasante was connected, would lose its liquor license, and thus be greatly injured in its business. Heney then referred to the first election of Schmitz in 1901, and of the subsequent appointment of Reagan and Hutton as Police Commissioners.

He took up the second election of Schmitz and declared that he would show that soon after that election, the police commissioners and Schmitz commenced a system of blackmail on saloons, houses of vice, and other resorts which could not be allowed to run without protection of people in power.

There were four commissioners and three of them were required to grant a license.

FRENCH RESTAURANTS.
With regard to the French restaurants, some of them had been in business for forty years. On the ground floor they did a legitimate business, but upstairs the business was of a different character.

"In 1904 Schmitz," said Heney, "sent for Commissioner Reagan and said 'these French restaurants are immoral places and should be regulated.' Reagan said he knew nothing about it."

Later Heney told about Reagan being shown "through the Poodle Dog restaurant and later responding to Schmitz that he had gone through the place at 8 o'clock and had found nothing wrong. The mayor said that Reagan had not gone at the right time, but it was, nevertheless, a fact, that the restaurants were immoral and should be closed."

TELLS OF PLOT.
Heney then told of the brothel, 230 Jackson street, and told of a plot devised against Hutton for the purpose of ruining him. This plot, included the sacrifice of a young woman, who was to be foisted on Hutton, but this was not done until the raid upon the restaurant had been decided upon.

LICENSE REVOKED.
He then told of the revocation of the license of Tortoni, one of the French restaurants. Reagan went to the Mayor and told him that Tortoni's place was immoral because women could be brought there. The Mayor said he had told him that, and that he ought to close them up. On Reagan's return, Reagan went to the Mayor and told him that Tortoni's place was immoral because women could be brought there. MULLALLY USES DYNAMITE STICKS FOR PAPERWEIGHTS

Governor Gillett Is Highly Incensed Over Attempt to Destroy Haight Street Car Yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—General Manager Mullally is using dynamite sticks for paper weights on his desk. He has a choice collection of explosives that have been gathered in by detectives of the company, and the police, and keeps them about him as souvenirs. In reply to the charges made by union men, that the company is engaging in the dynamite business for the purpose of throwing discredit on the union and causing the arrest of union men, Mr. Mullally said:

"We are not at all anxious to have this dynamite business advertised as it is hurting the road financially. People are of an anxious to ride on the cars, and it is not to our interest in any way to have things of this sort reported."

"As to the charge that this is not really dynamite that is being placed on the tracks, I should be glad to have any one doubting the fact make a test with some of these cartridges with the provision only that they take them far enough away from this office."

Although both parties, the United Railroads and the union labor men, are looking into the shipment of dynamite, through the Wells Fargo Company, no report has been made as yet. The union men hope to prove it was not through any labor agency or accomplice that the dynamite was shipped. The United Railroads on the other hand believe the shipment of dynamite will be traceable to union labor sources.

Governor Aroused.
Governor Gillett was highly incensed over the attempt to destroy a Haight street car with a nitroglycerine bomb. In the interview that he gave he said:

"Yes, I invited Mayor Schmitz down here and I talked very frankly with him about the urgent necessity for re-establishing law and order in San Francisco. There is no secret about my attitude on this question. I do not want to bring troops to San Francisco and there will be no excuse for the presence of the troops if the police department is properly administered. With competent and honest men at the head of the San Francisco police department will be all right. Beyond stating that the Mayor and I discussed ways and means for restoring confidence in the police department I cannot make public the nature of our conference."

"Confidence cannot be restored while cars are being blown up. The fact that innocent passengers were not killed or frightfully maimed was not the fault of the man who placed the bomb in Haight street. He should commission. Preliminary, Mr. Heney outlined the mayor's entrance into politics and traced the political friendship and association of Schmitz and Ruef from the time of its inception throughout the mayor's first two terms of office.

WHAT HENEY EXPECTS TO PROVE

He recited with much circumstance the facts as alleged in the indictment and their surrounding incidents. Mr. Heney spoke for an hour, and at the conclusion of his address called to the stand Former Police Commissioner Thomas Reagan.

Ex-Commissioner Reagan On the Witness-Stand.

Mr. Reagan said he first met the mayor in August, 1901, prior to his first nomination.

"Do you know how the delegates to the nominating convention were elected?" asked Heney. To this the defense objected vigorously, as a "political question, not in any way pertinent to this issue." The witness was allowed to answer.

"Yes," he said, "they were elected by the unions."

Mr. Reagan said he was appointed police commissioner by the mayor on October 6, 1903, to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner Newhouse. His relations with the mayor, he said, were very friendly. He thought that Ruef had had nothing to do with his appointment.

"I served out Commissioner Newhouse's term," said Regan, "and was reappointed in January, 1904, for a full four-year term."

Continuing Mr. Reagan said that it was in the summer of 1904 in the mayor's office in the new city hall that he had his first talk with the mayor on the subject of French restaurants.

"I told him that Commissioner Hutton was very much opposed to the French restaurants and wanted me to side with him and try to close them up. The mayor told me they were bad places and he wanted me to visit them and find out for myself and then close them up."

"I personally investigated the New Poodle Dog at Mason and Eddy streets, and then I reported back to the Mayor. I told him I had called there at eight o'clock in the evening and the proprietor had taken me all through the house, from the top floor to the cellar. And I said that I had found nothing wrong. The Mayor replied that I had not called at the right time.

HAD MANY TALKS.

"This matter of the French restaurants next came before me officially through evidence presented to the Board of Police Commissioners in connection with the application for a renewal of a liquor license for Tortoris. I had many talks with the Mayor on the subject and kept him fully advised of the board's proceedings.

"Tortoris' license was revoked by the board, and two days later, in reporting this to the Mayor in his office, I explained to him that two men named Peterson had gotten the management of Tortoris to send out for immoral women, and that they were accommodated in private rooms at this place, and that testimony to this effect had been given before the board.

"I told the Mayor I believed that the French restaurants were all run alike. He replied that they were all bad and that all of them should be closed up. To this I said:

"But, Mr. Mayor, a number of people connected with the administration frequent the Pup." The Mayor replied that the Pup was not very good, but that it was not as bad as the rest."

STRICKEN FROM RECORDS.

In answer to further questions by Mr. Heney, the former commissioner said that the Board of Police Commissioners had immediately called an investigation of all French restaurants.

This answer was stricken out on objection by the defense, who insisted that the records of the Police Commission were the best evidence of any proceedings by that body; that the witness should be allowed to tell only of his own individual acts.

"I proceeded," testified Mr. Reagan, "to obey the Mayor's instructions to withhold licenses from the French restaurants. There were in existence at that time 3078 liquor licenses, and most of the French restaurants sold liquor under that form of law. In compliance with the Mayor's instructions, I assisted in holding up these licenses. I think that the Bay States was the first one I voted against."

At this point, adjournment until 2 o'clock was taken, on motion of the prosecution, in order to allow the bringing into court of the records of the Police Commission.

PROSECUTOR HENEY'S STATEMENT

the meeting of the Police Commissioners January 13, 1905, of Ruef, "who was in Sacramento helping to elect Frank Flint to the United States Senate," caused a two weeks' postponement of license renewals after the first $5000 had been paid, and that when Proprietor Malfanti of Delmonico's restaurant, went to the Mayor and complained about it, Schmitz said: "It will be all right; I'll see that Ruef attends about it at the next meeting."

Heney said that the prosecution will show that after the payment of this blackmail money the Mayor did his best to get Commissioner Reagan to face about and vote for the renewal of the license and that Reagan refused.

At the conclusion of Mr. Heney's address, Mr. Barrett for the defense, asked the court to instruct the jury to disregard "every statement made by the Assistant District Attorney except those particular matters relating to the charge in the indictment under trial."

MOTION DENIED.

Mr. Heney replied, in effect that he had gone on field in order to show intent and design on the part of the Mayor to commit the crime of which he is accused.

"The motion is overruled," said Judge Dunne. "The jury will be instructed at the proper time."

WITNESSES WHO WILL TESTIFY AGAINST MAYOR SCHMITZ

THOMAS REAGAN

Will testify that as member of police commission he was urged by Mayor Schmitz first to vote to cancel liquor licenses of French restaurants and then to restore them.

J. A. DRINKHOUSE

Will testify that as member of the police commission he was ordered by the mayor to take program in French restaurant cases.

H. W. HUTTON

Will testify that he was dismissed from police commission when he refused to vote in French restaurant cases as the mayor desired.

JOSEPH MAFANTI

Will testify that Delmonico's restaurant, of which he was part owner, was deprived of its liquor license and was forced to pay $2175 to Abe Ruef before it was restored.

ANTONIO BLANCO

Will testify that as proprietor of the Poodle Dog restaurant he was compelled to pay $2175 to Ruef to regain his liquor license.

MICHEL DEBRET

Will testify that as one of the proprietors of Marchand's restaurant he contributed $2175 to the fund which went to Ruef for the renewal of the liquor licenses.

JEAN LOUPY

Will testify that as proprietor of the Pup restaurant he collected the money paid to Ruef.

ABE RUEF

Will testify that he collected money from the French restaurant men and gave a part of it to Mayor Schmitz.

ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM TO LEAVE IDORA PARK CO.

Management Would Not Increase His Salary From the Sum of $75 to $100 Per Week.

Arthur Cunningham, the well-known and popular tenor at Idora Park sent his resignation to the management last night to take effect one week from next Sunday evening.

Mrs. Cunningham, whose stage name is Lily Raymond, will retire from the company at the same time. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham will go north with the Healey Opera company. They will play in the cities in the north-west. Cunningham has been receiving $75 a week and his wife $25 a week. The tenor wanted an advance to $100 a week. The management at the park could not afford to give Cunningham a further raise, as his salary was recently advanced. The tenor has not been satisfied for sometime and has been wanting to make a change.

He offered to go to the Hippodrome in New York for $125 a week and give two performances a day. His offer, however, was not accepted by the management.

Cunningham has a magnificent voice and is popular in Oakland. The only point at issue was whether or not the management of Idora Park could meet his demand for the big salary of $100 a week.

BIG HOTEL EXCAVATION

Material to be Dumped on North Arm of Lake Merritt Park Site.

The Board of Public Works granted the request of the Oakland Hotel Company to lay temporary car tracks from the hotel site along Fourteenth street to Webster and from Grand avenue to the park site on the northeastern arm of Lake Merritt. Attorney George W. Reed and Warren English, secretary of the hotel company, appeared before the board. They explained that these temporary tracks were necessary to make a continuous connection with the Oakland Traction Company's permanent tracks between the hotel excavate the hotel site. There is something like 20,000 cubic yards of earth to remove, which will cost from $10,000 to $12,000. The company has made arrangements with the Oakland Traction Company for the use of its tracks from Webster and Fourteenth to a point on Grand avenue, where a temporary spur and switch will have to be laid to carry the material to the park site, which the company has arranged with the city to use as a dump. The arrangement with the city is mutually advantageous, for the company gets a convenient place to dispose of the earth excavated and the city obtains material for reclaiming the park site and laying the foundation for its permanent improvement. The contractor expects to get through with the excavation in less than sixty days.

NOTED VISITOR TALKS OF CITY

J. P. Downey, M. P. P., Greatly Impressed with Our Great State.

J. P. Downey, M. P. P., is visiting friends in Oakland. He is a journalist of note and represents the city of Guelph in the county of Wellington, and province of Ontario in the Ontario Parliament. The distinguished visitor is here on business and pleasure. In speaking with a TRIBUNE representative, Mr. Downey said:

"I was here about fifteen years ago for a short visit. Coming back after such a long absence I find wonderful progress has been made in this State. San Francisco is a wonderful city. After having read the details of the great disaster, we came to the conclusion that San Francisco was no more. Coming here we find that she still exists and has made marvelous progress in a year.

"It is one of the best examples in history of a city showing self-reliance and confidence under conditions which were very discouraging.

"You have in Oakland a great city, and also a great State with wonderful prospects.

"Before I came here, I had read stories of industrial strife in San Francisco. I was surprised to find that the conflict between the United Railroads and the men was going on so peacefully. I have walked up and down the streets of San Francisco and I have not yet heard one disrespectful word spoken. This strike seems to be almost a case of business rivalry where at the very best sides are competing for business in a friendly way.

"Of course, we must remember that San Francisco had been greatly disturbed; that piles of bricks are on every corner and they seem to invite attack. In another city one might look all over town before he could find a brick in the street.

"As soon as these troubles are over capital and labor will get together and join hands and then reconstruction will go on at a rate that will astound the optimistic."

The Office Boy Tells "Inside" Secrets

I've had hard luck signs pasted all over me lately. First, His Whiskers (that's the manager) handed the boss a lot of hot ozone about my coming in ten minutes late from lunch yesterday, when I hadn't seen the girl for almost a week; then the old men gave me a solar plexus this morning because I asked if I could get off to go to the ball game (after 3 o'clock, mind you) and, worst of all, a fellow wrote a letter to the old man and asked why he didn't get a kid to write his ads and hire a baby to run the errands and deliver the packages.

This line of sad talk coming three in a row, each handing out about a dime's worth, makes a fellow feel like thirty cents; but, shucks, if we don't agree on anything else around here we do agree on the fact that the Heeseman store has the greatest aggregation of enthusiastic workers on top of earth. I tell you we all pull together, and we all believe we've got something to pull for. It is, "Come on boys" with our manager all the time. He says elbow grease is the oil of industry. If every business house in Alameda county could arrange to have their head men trade here or drop in here occasionally so as to imbue them with the Heeseman habit of get-up-and-get-there-iveness it would pay the house big dividends. We're doing all sorts of business, but if any of you have been bumping the bumps of late, just come in the store and snoop around and then go out and look at yourself in any plate glass in town and you'll look so much better and feel so much cheer-fuller you'll go and buy yourself a big bouquet and throw it up against the side of the house so as to let it bound back and hit you for an hour or so WILLIE, with

WIDENING OF WATER STREET

Board of Works Takes Up the Matter of Clearing Obstructions.

A resolution received from the city council requesting the board of public works to remove all obstructions from Water street from Broadway to Webster and replank and repair the same for wagon traffic was referred to the city attorney by the board of public works for an official opinion. The mayor remarked that the street ought to be widened to its full width and put in good condition at once. He did not suppose that the obstructions occurred; the street had any legal right to be there and that the board would encounter no difficulty in examining the wishes of the council.

CAPTAIN IS ACTING CHIEF

During Absence of Head of Police Department Captain Peterson Will Act.

Captain of Police Walter J. Peterson was appointed by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners as acting chief of police in the absence of Chief Wilson, who will depart soon for Norfolk, Va., where he will attend the meeting of chiefs of police which opens on June 11th. Peterson is senior captain of the department and by virtue of his office assumes the chief's duties in the latter's absence.

Alexander McKay, of 1033 55th street, filed an application for a position of policeman. A. J. Marshall was appointed a special policeman.

The Reliance Athletic Club was granted permission to hold a boxing exhibition on Tuesday, June 11th.

LAUREL CLUB REORGANIZED

Institution Aims to be Leading Factor in Community's Social Life.

HAYWARD, June 5.—Reorganization of the Laurel Club was effected on Monday evening at a meeting specially called for the purpose, when the following board of directors was chosen:

William Angus, J. E. Welsh, M. W. Backus, F. D. Eoyt, C. B. Hanna, E. O. Webb and John Allan Park.

William Angus was subsequently elected president, J. E. Welsh, vice-president, John Allan Park, secretary, and C. B. Hanna, treasurer.

A committee to draft by-laws for the reorganized club was appointed. It consists of Dr. E. C. Clarke and Thomas B. Russell.

While it was practically decided to locate the club in the Bank of Haywards building, the question is still open, pending negotiations for a long lease.

At the next meeting of the club the question of incorporating will be taken up. There have been large accessions to the roll within the past few weeks. It is the aim of the directors still further to increase the membership and make the club a leading factor in the social life of the community.

TO ABANDON SUIJSUN RUN

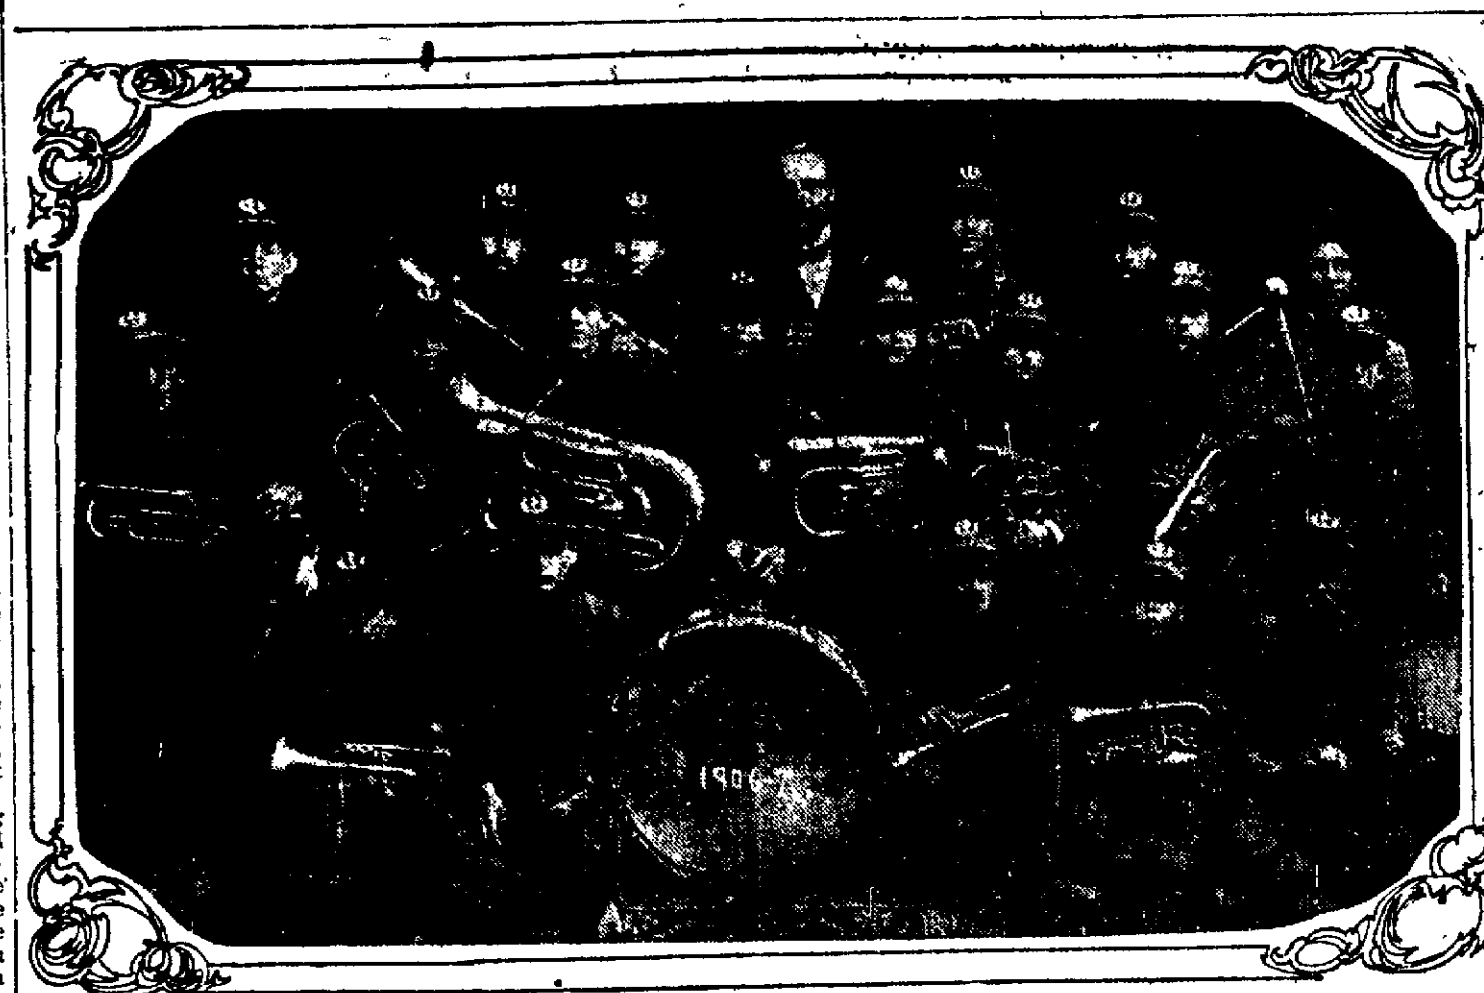

Railway to Send Trains Through Jamison Canyon via White Sulphur.

VALLEJO, June 5.—Plans of the Southern Pacific Company to abandon the Suisun-Benicia run and send its trains through Jamison canyon via the White Sulphur springs to this city and from South Vallejo to the Contra Costa shore have just been divulged by an official of a surveying party which has been at work for several weeks laying the proposed route of the new road.

For months the county has been flooded with rumors of various changes to be made by the Southern Pacific, but the information gained from the surveying crew is authentic and bears out stories which have been going the rounds of the press for some time. The reason for the change is that the slinks at Sprig and Teal stations near Suisun have proved an immense drain on the company's finances and that the road bed is in a dangerous condition, despite the expenditure of almost $2,000,000 to repair it.

Stakes have already been set along the proposed route near this city and a similar line is being established between Benicia and Vallejo, with the idea of running a branch road. In the event of the changes materializing the steamer Solano, now plying between Port Costa and Benicia, will be taken from her run and transferred to South Vallejo and Rodeo.

CAPABLE SCHOOL MUSICIANS MAKE MERRY AT BIG PICNIC

MEMBERS OF THE LOCKWOOD SCHOOL BAND AND THEIR LEADER, C. H. GREENMAN, WHO IS ALSO PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL.

Cheering of Happy Students Greet Hundreds

FITCHBURG, June 5.—The annual picnic of the Lockwood grammar school was held yesterday at Stege. It started from this point five hundred strong, and with later additions at the grounds numbered fully seven hundred. The main body left at 9 o'clock in five of the largest street cars obtainable, and attracted considerable attention en route by the cheering of the children and the music of the school band, which enlivened the excursion.

The day was devoted to games suited to every age, ranging from the neighborhood country and athletic sports to the more sensible home luxuries contained in every basket. Round after round of such pleasures was enjoyed before the sun dropped and only then were the tired and happy youngsters with their band, content to re-enter the cars and cheer and play their way home again.

This was the second appearance of the band in public, the first having been on Decoration Day, when they took a prominent part in the Memorial services, and won applause for their musical skill and military bearing. It was organized by C. H. Greenman, principal of the Lockwood school, about one year ago and has already attained considerable proficiency, though its members are mere children, ranging in age from seven to thirteen years. It is the youngest band of performers and the only grammar school band in the State and reflects great credit upon the ability and perseverance of the principal, who gives them a musical education without cost. Residents of Fitchburg are proud of the band and have contributed liberally to its support.

The young bandmen are Howard Rubie, drum major, Ralph Merrill, Ray Schmitt, Robert Cronner, Lester Eoye, Alfred Smith, William Roebert, Frank Prates, cornets, Parle Hiller, Ray Lemieux, alto, Arthur Reichert, Albert Wahl, Harold Morse, trombones; Walter Adams, piccolo; Edward Silva, tuba. Jewett Nicholson, Earl Maloon, James Roble, drums, Christian Hoidt, cymbals and triangle.

They have a regular business organization, officered by Ralph Merrill, as president and leader, Ray Schmitt, secretary and librarian, Albert Ward, treasurer.

LEAP FROM TRAIN IN ORDER TO SAVE MAN FROM THUGS

Members of Freight Crew See Desperate Footpads Attack Victim in Yards and Hasten to Rescue.

LIVERMORE, June 5.—Jack Carrera, an Italian laborer who has been in the employ of Louis Inel for the past year, was the victim of a bold attempt at robbery last Thursday by two companions whom he had been treating to drinks and showing his money. They invaded his little lower part of the railroad yards, where they thought they were free from observation, and were giving Carrera a bad beating in a struggle to make him give up the money, when they were seen in the act by the crew of an incoming freight train.

The train was immediately stopped and the members of the crew took a hand in the scrimmage, capturing one of the footpads, and giving him a sound beating. Carrera was then taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries.

The other thug was taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries. Carrera is now recovering from his injuries.

SCENIC ROAD FOR MT. DIABLO

Contra Costa Supervisors Plan Way to Reach Top of Mountain.

MARTINEZ, June 5.—The plan of the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa county to build a scenic road to the top of Mount Diablo is meeting with enthusiasm on all sides.

A petition for a road signed by about fifty people was presented to the board Monday, asking that a committee be appointed to view and lay out the proposed road. This body will report to the board at its meeting next month.

On June 23 there will be a barbecue to which the Chamber of Commerce of Berkeley, the Merchants' Exchange of Oakland, the Alameda county Board of Supervisors and other organizations are invited. The possibilities of such a road will be pointed out to the visitors.

The statement is made on the best authority that there is no other mountain in the world where such a broad expanse of territory can be viewed as from the top of Mount Diablo. Such a road would be the means of bringing thousands of people every year and giving it an advertisement that it could not secure in any other way.

The report of the assessor showed that he had collected $142.66 on unsecured personal property during the month.

Reference to the steel cells for the jail Trustee Nystrom reported that he had taken the matter up with the manufacturers and was not ready to make a final report.

Ordinance No. 92, creating the office of sanitary inspector, was read and will be allowed to take the usual course.

Resolution of award of contract No. 3, to Kinney & Roth, for the construction of a sewer on San Pablo and a portion of Montecito avenue was read and awarded. The contract amounts to $1579.78.

The liquor license of Antonio Turfson, having been returned to the city for his failure to pay the same, was issued to L. M. Perrin.

A resolution addressed to the Postmaster General requesting free delivery for Richmond was read and the city clerk was instructed to send the document to Washington.

Lee D. Windrem was appointed to fill the position of City Clerk Turley, who will be away on his summer vacation for the next couple of weeks.

The map of Cerritos Addition to the town was adopted by the board.

After auditing the bills the board adjourned.

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT. W. J. Schmidt, member of the Board of Trustees of Berkeley, was in town last night attending to some business matters and looking over the place. Mr. Schmidt was much impressed with the rapid advancement of Richmond and believes the town has a remarkable future before it in the way of commercial development.

The Point Richmond Canal and Land Company officials have erected a neat little office building they are always ready to meet their friends and patrons. The structure is built after the bungalow pattern and presents a very neat and cozy appearance. H. W. Verne, secretary of the company, in charge of the sales department, and no better man could be placed in the position.

TRUSTEES MEET UNRULY BOYS LAND IN JAIL

Resolution Asking for Free Mail Delivery Forwarded to Postmaster-General.

RICHMOND, June 5.—The members of the Board of Trustees met in regular session last evening and roll call found all members present.

A communication from H. C. Cutting submitting a site to the city for a town hall was read and laid over for final consideration.

Chas. J. Koehler, of San Francisco, appeared before the board and asked that a certain tract of land be donated by the city for a factory site which, he admitted, was in the embryo. He was referred to the Chamber of Commerce.

The People's Water Company gave official notification of the establishment of a fire hydrant at Nineteenth street and Nevin avenue.

F. J. Whittle appeared before the board with a petition asking for the appointment by the board to the position of supervisor of streets.

The marshal's monthly report showed that that official had collected for the city $353.34 during the month of May. City Recorder Kennon's report showed that thirty-two cases had been handled in his court during the past month and that $95 had been collected in fines.

The report of the assessor showed that he had collected $142.66 on unsecured personal property during the month.

Reference to the steel cells for the jail Trustee Nystrom reported that he had taken the matter up with the manufacturers and was not ready to make a final report.

NEW WHARF NEAR BENICIA

Oil Refinery Company to Construct Large Hotel on Bay Shore.

BENICIA, June 5.—Work on the big oil refinery which Los Angeles and San Francisco capitalists will build on the bay shore between Vallejo and Benicia will be begun this week. Eighteen boiler makers will arrive from the East to commence the erection of the big tanks which will be the preliminary work of the Glen Cove site.

Already David Fleischer of San Francisco, who is acting as agent for the oilmen, has procured a wharf franchise at that point, and he will immediately start the erection of a big wharf structure. It is also announced that a large hotel will be built.

CLERKS STRIKE FOR MORE PAY

Elmhurst Grocerymen Now Compelled to Run Business Without Assistance.

ELMHURST, June 5.—The grocery clerks of this town have formed an association, which has made a demand upon their employers for higher wages and less hours of work. In the past they have worked ten hours for which they received $12 a week. They now demand $15 for nine hours' work.

The grocery owners are not inclined to yield their employees' demands and are endeavoring to get other help. In the meantime L. L. Duttonbaugh Brothers and others are conducting their business without the aid of clerks.

FOUR YOUNG HIGHWAYMEN BEAT WOMAN'S ESCORT

Many Witness Assault on San Joaquin but Robbers Escape Capture by Police.

SAN JOAQUIN, June 5.—Shortly after 11 o'clock last night four robbers walked into Letcher's garage on First street and at the point of a revolver robbed the two employees of the place. They then walked down to Third street and stopped a young man who was escorting a woman, beat him until he was nearly unconscious, and then went through his clothes. This assault was witnessed by a number of people but the robbers got away unmolested. They then broke into Delmar market on First street. Only $3 reward offered them for their night's work. They were all young fellows, unmasked and the leader seemed to be not over 17 years of age.

CEMETERY TO REPLACE SLAUGHTER HOUSES

LIVERMORE, June 5.—A new cemetery is to be established here, Livermore Lodge No. 219, I. O. O. F., having purchased from F. S. Penman for the purpose the five acres adjoining the Catholic cemetery on the west.

The premises are at present occupied by P. J. Murray's slaughterhouse and corral, under a lease not expiring for a year hence, but it is expected to make arrangements for securing possession before that time.

The funeral of Domingo Garaventa, who died last Thursday at his home in the northern part of the valley, was held Saturday from St. Michael's Church. Deceased was a native of France, aged 55 years, and leaves a wife, a son and a daughter.

Alfred Leal, formerly of this place, arrived this week from Nevada and surprised his friends by bringing with him a bride, who was Miss Irene Lerman, of New York City. The marriage taking place last Wednesday at Las Vegas, Nevada. The young couple spent several days here visiting the groom's mother, Mrs. A. Leal, and then left Tuesday for Eureka, where Mr. Leal may decide to locate, having disposed of his business interests at Goldfield.

The Board of Town Trustees at their meeting on Monday evening unanimously elected P. H. McVicar to succeed P. J. Murray as chief of the fire department, no other name being presented. Mr. McVicar formerly held the office for many years.

Alex McDonald, of Oakland, spent Sunday and Monday visiting here.

Engineer Harris Hobron of the Livermore local train has been granted two months' leave of absence and left Tuesday with his family to visit the Jamestown Exposition. Engineer Hobron, of Oakland, is taking his place meanwhile.

John Gallagher, accompanied by a friend, Thomas Clancy, and a son from San Francisco Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Gallagher.

A pleasant birthday party was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wentz, the occasion being the birthday of their daughter, Freda, and about twenty of her young friends were present.

Joseph Concannon was up from Oakland to spend Sunday with his parents.

Miss Rose Harris, of San Francisco, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Victor.

Gerald Beazell is able to be out after being confined to his bed for three weeks with fever.

Rasmus Hansen, who is now a brakeman for the Southern Pacific Company, was up from Oakland to spend Sunday with relatives and friends.

Frank Silva, of Modesto, was the guest of his brother, M. L. Silva, the first of the week.

D. H. Vogts Sr. was thrown from his wagon last Saturday as the result of an automobile fight with his horse and he has since been confined to his bed with numerous bad bruises, but luckily escaped with no bones broken, and it is thought no internal injuries were sustained.

Contractor Bell's construction outfit left Friday, having completed the work of grading the roadbed for the Western Pacific from the brickyard near Pleasanton to the town limits of Livermore.

Contractors Palmer & McBride began work with a steam shovel Friday on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Claxton.

F. W. Smith of the Hotel Washington, is confined to his bed with a severe attack of appendicitis.

William Egan was up from the city Monday.

Mrs. George Beck spent several days in Alameda last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. V. Welch.

Miss Mary Lassen, who is employed in the German Hospital in San Francisco, is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

WESTERN PACIFIC IS MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

MELROSE, June 5.—The Western Pacific is putting in a concrete culvert on the creek below the Southern Pacific depot.

The gold watch dropped by Mrs. Storey ten days ago as she boarded a Hayward car was returned yesterday by the finder.

Charles Armstrong, youngest son of the well known real estate agent of that name, has entered the employment of the Southern Pacific Company as clerk in the general office in San Francisco.

J. B. Cooley, of the Manufacturing firm of Steward & Cooley, left with his family today for Livingston, Idaho.

Terrill Botts, clerk at the Melrose depot, is on the sick list.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday afternoon and voted to extend an invitation to the members of the grocers' party now visiting Hayward to be the guests of the Chamber on a trip on Oakland harbor and along the western waterfront on such day as may be convenient for the members of the committee. Owing to the steamship leaving Honolulu later than was at first anticipated the committee will not arrive in San Francisco until an early hour Friday morning and these will go to Petaluma. It was expected that the committee would be entertained by the local Chamber of Commerce today (Thursday).

WILL REORGANIZE CONSULAR SERVICE

CHICAGO, June 5.—A bill for the reorganization of the United States consular service was drafted yesterday by the executive committee of the National Business League to supplement the Lodge bill, enacted by the Fifty-ninth Congress. Among its provisions are:

1.—Removal of the service from the sphere of political influence by enactment of the "merit" system of examination, appointment and promotion of consuls.

2.—Creation of an examining board, with examination scale of 80 to 100.

3.—Minimum and maximum age limit of 21 and 35 years, respectively, for admission to the service.

4.—Consuls to be familiar with one modern language other than English, and possess a knowledge of the natural industrial and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States.

5.—Tenure of office to continue only during efficiency and conduct of the highest grade.

6.—The bill also advocates a reasonable retiring pension for consular officials.

LOTUS CLUB'S NEW HOME

NEW YORK, June 5.—The building committee of the Lotus club has decided on the plans for the new clubhouse which is to be erected, beginning some time this year, in Fifty-ninth street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, at a cost of $60,000.

What Law and Order Means.

Some people are unable to understand that the powers and duties of government are confined to a particular sphere. All the authorities of San Francisco have to do with the carmen's strike is to maintain order and protect person and property. As regards the dispute between the United Railroads and the striking carmen they have nothing whatever to do. They have no right to take sides officially, or to use the powers conferred upon them by law to assist one or the other.

Many people are unable to divest themselves of the idea that suppressing lawlessness and disorder involves breaking up the unions and interfering with the rights of organized labor. Nothing could be further from the truth. Yet the statement is frequently made by persons taking directly opposite views of the strike.

A certain type of agitator insists upon identifying unionism with violence and disturbance by charging all enforcement of the laws against assault and injury to property as efforts to break up the unions.

On the other hand, another class insists that the strong arm of power should be extended from protecting all citizens in the free pursuit of their legitimate occupations to interference with labor organizations and the activities in which they have a moral and legal right to engage.

The labor agitator, who by deeds or public assertion identifies organized labor with violence and disorder is a foe to the true principles of unionism as well as a public disturber. In his way he is justifying the assertion of the men who argue that labor organization is a conspiracy against law and order.

From directly opposite standpoints, these individual types are doing their best to promote antagonism and inculcate an erroneous and mischievous impression. The one demands that the police shall abstain from their sworn duty to uphold the law and afford protection to person and property, while the other demands that the police unjustifiably interfere with the right of assembly and the liberty of citizens of any class or calling to organize to promote their own interests and protect themselves against organized attempts to curtail their emoluments and liberty of action.

Neither will recognize that the man who throws stones at passing cars should be punished solely because he is a disturber of the public peace and not because he belongs to a union or sympathizes with a strike. Between the man who insists upon punishing a rioter more because he belongs to a union and a man who insists that a stone-thrower shall not be punished because he is a union man or a union sympathizer there is little to choose. Both desire to interfere with the liberty of the citizen, and view the simple matter of law enforcement through the eyes of class prejudice. Each respects the law only as an instrument for promoting his personal designs or ideas. Neither regards it in its proper light as an agency for promoting the peace of society and protecting all alike in the enjoyment of their property and liberty of action in business or pleasure.

The law is for everybody alike and for nobody in particular. It is the friend of all who respect and obey it, and the enemy alone of those who violate it and refuse to respect the rights it confers upon others. The law is neither union nor non-union. It gives no person a right or license that it does not confer upon all. It gives no special permit to protection to one class or interest that it gives to all classes and all interests. The quicker these elemental truths are recognized the better for the public peace and for the good feeling and established order which should prevail in every civilized community.

It did not occur to the driver of the sprinkling cart in San Francisco who wetted Chief Justice Beatty's trousers to set up the defense that the nether garments of the learned jurist were in need of cleansing. The splendid example of George D. Collins appears to be wholly lost on some people.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court that a man who works on a dredge, because it is a floating machine, is a sailor, is invoking no end of criticism and ridicule for the reason that every one who knows anything about a dredge knows that those employed on it are never required to perform any of the functions of a sailor, unless it be to occasionally splice a rope or row a skiff ashore.

The Cartwright anti-trust law is said to be working charmingly. It has ruptured the crude oil trust, "busted" the meat trust, and a threat served on the wholesale druggists to invoke it has put an end to the patent medicine trust. The law was passed by the last Legislature, and seems to have been one of the most perfect and effective pieces of legislation ever enacted in this State.

French Seaman's Strike Settled.

The strike of the French merchant seamen, nearly all of whom are enrolled in the naval reserve, has been of short duration, and the strikers have practically won out. Deserters from the service are not to be punished; all officers and men are to be restored to their former employment, and the naval committee of the Chamber of Deputies has promised to satisfactorily arrange the schedule of pensions, which was the cause of the strike. The paralysis of French commerce caused by the strike and the distress in the wine-growing districts, where the wine-growers are clamoring for Government relief and the suppression of the manufacture of imitation and adulterated wines, were more than what the French ministry could muster the courage to face, so it yielded on the seamen's pension issue by a subterfuge which consisted of transferring the responsibility of readjusting the schedule to the satisfaction to the naval reserve to the naval committee of the Chamber of Deputies. The Government will, of course, gracefully accept the amendment which the committee will tack on to the bill and thus save its face.

One of the most absurd notions of the San Francisco graft prosecution is that it is criminal for any man to be on terms of close friendship with any one under indictment and that his record is a proper subject for grand jury investigation on that account.

If the Street Department wants to distinguish itself and add to the comfort of pedestrians it has only to devote a little of its surplus money to making an inspection of ruptured concrete sidewalks wherever they exist, notify the owner of the property that repairs must be made within a reasonable time or the department will make them at the property's expense. There is a splendid field for a little display of this kind of official energy in some parts of the territory south of Seventh street.

WEARISOME AND LENGTHY EXAMINATIONS OF TALESMEN SUMMONED IN BOTH THE SCHMITZ TRIAL IN SAN FRANCISCO AND THE HAYWOOD TRIAL IN BOISE, IDAHO. SUGGEST TO THE CARTOONIST THE ABOVE.

Home Rule Set Back Again.

The Nationalist convention at Dublin having rejected the Irish home rule bill, introduced by the Government into the House of Commons, Premier Campbell-Bannerman has decided to drop the measure. The bill provided for a subordinated form of local self-government. The Nationalists will not accept anything short of absolute independent self-government. Campbell-Bannerman could not run the risk of pressing the bill to a vote, because such a course would result in a coalition between the Irish Nationalists and the old-time Conservative-Unionist opponents to home rule for Ireland in any form and possibly overturn the Government; but he has managed, through the introduction of the bill, to keep his pre-election promises regarding the Irish question. It is up to the Nationalists themselves now to assume the responsibility of framing a bill which will be acceptable to the Government and to the Irish people.

The executors of the estate of the late Russell Sage have done one thing that the decedent would not tolerate during his lifetime, namely, to make up a vacation list for its employees. It was Sage's particular pride that he never took a vacation and he denied the privilege to those he employed. The executors do not take the same view of life. They have not only prepared a vacation list, but Russell Sage's former secretary, Charles W. Osborne, who is one of the executors, has set an example by being the first to break the cast-iron rule of his former employer, by going off on a summer trip, the first outing he has had in twenty-nine years. Sage never could be made to understand that there was any virtue in the sailor's maxim that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

IMPROVED FACILITIES NOT TO HIS LIKING.

Improved transportation facilities and hermits never did get along well together, and as a result John Armstrong, who for forty-nine years has occupied the same small room in the Fifteenth Ward Hotel, Sixth avenue and Ninth street, has been driven from his home by the McAdoo subway. The man is more than 90 years old, and, despite his long residence in the hotel, does not know more than six people to speak of in the neighborhood.

Armstrong knew Abraham Lincoln fifty years ago. He was prominent in the social life of old Greenwich village. In his younger days, it is said, he had been jilted by a girl whom he loved, and since that time he has been a woman hater, and a man hater, too, for that matter.

He sold flowers at summer resorts in season, and it is said accumulated a snug bank account.—Exchange.

A pack of English foxhounds were recently in full cry after a fox and the field was having a fine run, when, all at once, two sheep dogs jumped out, killed Reynard and ended the day's sport there and then, to the general disgust.—Exchange.

MAN IS DECLARED TO BE A WOMAN.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Nichol de Baylan, the former attorney of the Russian Consulate, whose sex had been a matter of doubt, was yesterday officially declared to be a woman. The order was entered by Judge Cutting in the Probate Court and as a result Mrs. Anna de Baylan, who lived with de Baylan as his wife, will not be permitted to share in the estate, which is valued at about $4000. The witnesses were persons who visited Phoenix, Arizona, where the body was exhumed.

CHURCH MANAGES COSTLY THEATER.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Chicago has a theater, the management of which is entirely in the hands of Catholic priests. At a total expenditure of $800,000 the College Theater, at Sheridan and Webster avenues, on the north side of the city, was opened last night to the public for the first time. In appearance, both exterior and interior, the theater is one of the handsomest in the city. The first attraction of the new playhouse was the late Frederick Grant, Gleason's grand opera in English, "Otto Wicanti."

"OAKLAND" GOOD ENOUGH.

Editor TRIBUNE: As a humble but loyal citizen of Greater Oakland, and not a "knicker" on general principle, I am pleased to submit for your consideration the statement that the firm which deems it proper to employ the writer as advertising manager has received responses to its advertisement in THE TRIBUNE from no less a distance than India, thus affording ample proof that as a matter of fact THE TRIBUNE is now more than a local paper.

For "nigh on to forty years" it is just this "dry rot Oakland never will amount to anything" of narrow-minded people that has retarded to a certain extent its advancement. Who is this Oaklander that his idle vapors should resolve such publicity? My opinion is that it is a great surprise to the two hundred thousand readers of THE TRIBUNE that space should be allowed such "stuff."

Here is the truth. Oakland is now great. THE TRIBUNE is now great. Berkeley is now North Oakland. Alameda is now South Oakland. Fruitvale is now East Oakland. And it looks very much at present like any association that San Francisco may desire to form with this peace-loving, prosperous city will be allowed only under the name of West Oakland. As for the Mayor's opinion that the name is not ideal—well, really every man has a right to his own opinion. Printer's Ink is the "open sesame" to Oakland's present and future greatness. A thousand dollars a month paid by the great development committee of a thousand that recently ate at the great feast to the subscription fund of the Oakland daily papers for Eastern distribution to reading rooms, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, public libraries, and to interested parties who write for information to the secretaries of the publicity organizations here, together with another thousand dollars a month devoted to a whole page advertising campaign in some of the better monthly magazines and a "six-inch" single-column advertisement with a cut of Greater Oakland at the top of it, in a hundred leading Eastern dailies, will give this city a million population in ten years. Printer's Ink, judiciously used, will change the name. Not only will changing the name not accomplish the purpose, but, on the other hand, it will retard the progressive movement. The name Oakland is good enough.

Respectfully, ROYAL LOUIS.

She Weighs 350, He Weighs 124 CALLS HIS WIFE HUSBAND BEATER Both Are Seeking a Separation

NEW YORK, June 5.—During the twenty years that the Hofakers lived in their little saloon, hotel and restaurant on Third avenue, near Fifty-eighth street, living frugally and starting savings accounts in a number of banks, they had nothing more than an occasional spat to mar their domestic serenity. Prosperity brought with it a wish to live in the country and enjoy the fruits of their toil. A small farm was purchased near Poughkeepsie in the fall of 1904, and there has been trouble ever since.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that Mrs. Victorine Hofaker weighs 350 pounds. Gottfried, the husband, cannot tip the scales' beam when it is set above 124 pounds. In spite of this discrepancy in weight, Hofaker asserts that his wife has at different times:

Hit him on the head with a meat cleaver.

Struck him with a stove-lifter.

Attacked him with a knife.

Thrown crockery at him.

All this is alleged in Hofaker's answer to a suit for separation brought by his wife through Attorney August P. Wagener of No. 49 Chambers street.

FIFTY BOTTLES OF WINE.

He thinks that if these alleged lapses of self-control are not sufficient, the Judge may ponder on the allegation that Mrs. Hofaker received a case of fifty bottles of Rhine wine and drank every drop contained therein within the space of a single week.

"It is not safe for me to live with her," says Hofaker, "and I respectfully petition the court to grant me the separation, particularly as Mrs. Hofaker has been adjudged insane by two reputable physicians and committed to an asylum, though she was never taken there."

The attempt to put her in a mad-house is the basis of Mrs. Hofaker's suit. She claims it is a conspiracy between her husband and daughter Elizabeth, and is now in hiding somewhere near New York to baffle them.

Whatever the physicians found when they examined her, Mrs. Hofaker displayed remarkable sagacity in money affairs.

WIFE HOLDS PURSE STRINGS.

The savings of the couple (with the exception of $721 in the Franklin Savings Bank, on which the husband stopped payment as it was a joint account), Mrs. Hofaker drew out and put in her own name. They amounted to more than $17,000, the husband asserts, and he is trying to get his share back again. Another suit has been brought to have title in the farm conveyed to him, Mrs. Hofaker having been thoughtful enough to have the deed recorded in her own name. The Hofakers' troubles will be threshed out in a Dutchess county court next week.

GIRL STUDENTS ARE POISONED

BURLINGTON, N. J., June 5.—Ptomaine poisoning, believed to have been caused by canned chicken served at a class dinner, made the faculty and sixty girl students at St. Mary's Hall here violently ill.

A few hours after last night's dinner, at which salads, strawberries and ice cream also figured on the menu, all the pretty college girls were doubled up in pain. Two of the teachers fainted, but were later revived. Many of the girls were too ill to attend chapel services this morning, but it is believed tonight that all will recover.

INDIAN MAIDENS WANT WHITE MEN

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 5.—Twelve Indian girls of the Chickasaw Nation, in Indian Territory, have written to President Winston, of the State Agricultural College, requesting his aid in getting white husbands.

The girls state they have entered into a pact to marry none but white men. They have much land and they think students at the Agricultural College will make the right sort of husbands.

President Winston read the letter to the students today and it created enthusiasm. Fifty students have written replies to the girls.

Don't force a child to eat. It may be really inability, and not stubbornness, that causes it to refuse food. Nature generally knows best, and in the case of slight stomach derangement a little fasting does good rather than harm.

Glass can be cut with a pair of ordinary shears. If glass and shears and hands are all kept under cold water.

MARRIAGE TO MEND A QUARREL OF LONG AGO

NEW YORK, June 5.—A pretty little home wedding in Brooklyn on June 16 will add the chief chapter to a real-life romance that has been playing along for twelve years, with a hero as patient as Jacob of old, and a heroine as steadfast to principle as any girl of history or fiction.

James A. Starrett, then of Brooklyn, was the boyhood lover of Florrie Clarke, a beautiful, accomplished girl of 18. It was all decided, child-like, that they should wed when older. But there came a tiff, and when Miss Florrie was 18 she married Charles Evans, a new acquaintance. Starrett went away, but his love was strong and enduring. He remained faithful.

As Mrs. Evans, the bride was not happy. A year after her marriage she had to obtain a legal separation from her husband. Her friends and relatives wanted her to apply for a divorce, but she said: "Until death do us part," was my vow at the altar, and so it shall be."

She became noted as an artist and decorator and as an amateur actress. Mr. Starrett was her devoted follower. But even to him she made the same answer on the divorce question.

On April 15 of this year Mrs. Evans was one of the leading performers in a play given for the Church and Stage Guild by the "Belles of Blackville," a popular Brooklyn amateur organization. After the performance she, with Mr. Starrett and some others, went to a supper at the Navy Yard as guests of a number of officers.

In the midst of the festivities a messenger boy slipped into the supper room and handed Mrs. Evans a note: "Mr. Evans died this evening." The friends who knew of Starrett's long wait, after a period of silence raised their glasses in a rather quiet but sincere toast. "To the prospective bride and bridegroom."

"We will be married on June 15," very modestly said Mrs. Evans last night at her home, No. 132 De Kalb avenue, where she lives with her parents. "It was a matter of principle with me. I do not believe in divorces, so I waited."

SOCIETY: GOSSIP ABOUT SMART SET

The Good Cheer Whist Club, one of the popular card clubs, held the last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. H. C. Plummer in the Claremont district on Monday afternoon. A delightful luncheon was served the guests, after which they adjourned to the garden, where the tables were arranged under the trees for the enjoyable game of cards. Mrs. John Gordon was the successful player of the afternoon, and received a charming bit of brass as a reward for her skillful playing. Mrs. Plummer received a handsome brass fern dish as a reward for having the highest score during the season.

Among the guests who enjoyed Mrs. Plummer's hospitality were Mrs. E. E. Woolley, Mrs. John Gordon, Mrs. Andrew May, Mrs. J. Resseguie, Mrs. W. D. Rheem, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. George Flint and Mrs. Frank Wilson.

UNIQUE SHOWER.

Miss Anna Kerstan, that much-feted bride-elect, is to be the recipient of a plant shower this evening. The affair is to be given by Miss Kuss and her cousin, Miss Armstrong at the Kuss home in Thirty-first street. The young hostesses for the evening are to be Miss Kerstan's attendants on the evening of her wedding, June 12.

A JUNE BRIDE.

Leon G. Sinaard will be wedded tonight to Miss Margaret Hazel Henderson of Tulare County.

After a brief honeymoon the young couple will be at home here. Mr. Sinaard is the son of the late Dr. Sinaard, a prominent physician of Virginia, and Mrs. George Sinaard, who made her home here during the past winter. He is in the employ of the Southern Pacific.

Miss Henderson is the daughter of a wealthy rancher of Tulare County, who died recently. She is a blonde beauty of the petite type, and is popular among all who know her here.

AT DINNER.

Mrs. E. I. Bartholomew entertained at a dinner given last Saturday evening for Romeo Fryck, the baritone, who has recently come here from the East. The table decorations were carnations and covers were laid for half a dozen guests.

HOME AFFAIR.

Miss Florence Selther, the fiancée of Harry Harrison, was the recipient of a surprise party and kitchen shower given recently at her home in East Oakland.

There were various games by way of diversion, and music, and later a supper. Among those present were Miss May Wether, Miss Mira Wether, Miss Lottie Conklin, Miss Majorie Macintosh, Miss Ida Dobble, Miss Nina Cameron, Miss Marie Cameron, Miss Emma Osborn, Miss Leonia Osborn, Miss Lillian Herzhmen, Miss Pauline Selther, Miss Helen Selther, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Selther, Harry Harrison, Frank Selther, Thomas Kendall, Charles Bodenstern, Harry Robertson, Fred Tarr, Andrew Dobble, Donald Vernal, Clifton Richmond and Thomas Mavor.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL.

Dr. H. J. Stewart gave a most enjoyable pupils' recital at Columbus Hall, San Francisco, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Eliza Rogers contributed selections, delighting the audience with their artistic work.

Mrs. Crew-Rasor has but recently returned from Los Angeles, where she has been the guest of friends.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Theodore Westphal has issued invitations for a card party to be given at her home on Eighth street, next Monday afternoon.

WHIST PARTY.

Mrs. Henry East was a hostess on Monday evening, when she entertained the members of one of the smaller card clubs at progressive duplicate whist. The highest scores were made by Mrs. Baumgartner and George Arter, who were handsomely rewarded.

OREGON GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Faulkner have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Crowe, of The Dalles, Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe have been making an extended Eastern trip, and will remain in Oakland several weeks before going to their home in the northern State.

AL FRESCO AFFAIR.

Mrs. L. P. Crane entertained the Board of Directors of the Oakland Club at her San Leandro summer camp this afternoon. The last official meeting of the club was held under the shade of the trees, after which a luncheon was served. The remainder of the time was spent in picking and eating the delicious cherries which grow upon the place. Colonel and

Mother's Anxiety Discloses THIS SECRET MARRIAGE

Says Girl Woed Her Boy

NEW YORK, June 5.—The disappearance for the third time of 17-year-old Howard Watts, who has now been missing since Monday from his home at No. 54 Elizabeth street, West New Brighton, S. I., brought out a strange story of romance and mystery from the youth's mother yesterday. In brief she lays the blame for her son's disappearance to his bride of six months, Miss Bessie Van Wart, of Jamaica, L. I., whom she declares he secretly wedded on December 4.

Mrs. Watts says that at about the time that Miss Van Wart began to receive the attention of her son she learned that the youth's father was about to be awarded $500,000 in a suit at law.

SAYS GIRL DID THE WOOLING.

After that Mrs. Watts declares her daughter-in-law did most of the wooing. She accuses the young woman of pursuing her boy on all possible occasions. Now Mrs. Watts says Collins Van Wart, father of the bride, is threatening to prosecute his son-in-law, for alleged misrepresentation of his age at the time of the marriage. Mrs. Watts added:

"It was some time last July that my boy confided to Miss Van Wart that his father was about to obtain $500,000. From that time on the girl would not let him alone. She met him on his way to the office of Millikin Brothers' Steel Company, where he was employed. She arranged dinners for him and took him on automobile rides. She told him he did not need to work and that she loved him.

"When Howard confided the young woman's views to his father he was warned not to have anything to do with the Watts family, but he continued to call there. It was on December 4 that they went to the Little Church Around the Corner, where Miss Van Wart was married to Howard by the Rev. Dr. Houghton. My son was sworn to secrecy, but when he returned home at midnight he confessed the marriage to me. He

"Howard disappeared again on December 23 in an automobile, and returned just as mysteriously on February 2 last. He had a hazy notion of where he had been, save that he had seen his wife. A physician we called in said he was suffering from narcotic poisoning.

"On May 26 our boy again disappeared, and we have been unable to get any trace of him."

MOTHER OF 21 SERVED MEALS AT TWO TABLES

She Had So Many Children She Didn't Know What to Do, So Dies at Age of 55.

BALTIMORE, June 5.—Mrs. Anne R. M. Lycett, the mother of twenty-one children, who had first and second tables at all meals to accommodate them all, died today at her home, 1512 Henry street. She was fifty-five years old, and married when sixteen.

She had always said that she found it no more trouble to raise twenty-one boys and girls than she did a few. She and her husband started housekeeping at their wedding, and all the twenty-one were born in one house, 1417 Battery avenue.

Mrs. Lycett was of Irish descent, and her husband, who is an engineer in the Baltimore fire department, was born in Ireland. He is sixty years old. The oldest living child is thirty-five.

THE KIND OF HUSBANDS THAT SOME WOMEN LIKE One Washes Dishes, Although He Has a Good Position and a Big Bank Account.

There is a model apartment house in Buffalo, says Kate Burr in an Eastern exchange.

No, I'm not going to tell you on what street it stands, because every woman in town would make a bargain-counter rush for the place.

But in this model apartment house dwells a splendid collection of model husbands—long, short, fat, lean, but every one of them models of their kind.

The man who told me about this ideal home for married women and who said he would vouch for the truth of his tale, claimed that the wives were just the ordinary kind, but that the husbands were the strangest he had ever seen.

"I went there to room," said he, "and before I had been in the building a month I was treated to some surprising revelations as to husbands."

"I discovered a new breed right there."

"One morning I stood looking out into the plot of ground they call a yard. I saw one of my neighbors—a man who is rated pretty well on 'change—standing out by the cloth reel, hanging up dishcloths to dry."

"He was a sight, I can tell you, with his bald pate shining in the sun, and a big diamond glistening from his shirt front."

"Hired girl vomooed, wife sick," was my internal comment, but a few hours later when we happened to meet at a downtown cafe for lunch I mentioned the circumstance of seeing him at the helm.

"Oh, yes," he said without a shadow of embarrassment, "I always hang out the wiping cloths for my wife."

"I'll be jiggered," I said to myself.

WIPE WIFE'S DISHES.

"But that was nothing to the shock I got a few days after. Happening to go by an open door where lives my friend Smith—high-up-something in the Central passenger service—what was my amazement to see him with a big blue gingham apron tied round his florid neck, wiping dishes."

"It was the kitchen door of the Smith apartment that I had peeped into and Smith saw me as I flitted by. 'That you Brown?' he yelled. 'Come in and help.'

"Yes, it's gospel truth, this story; I'll swear it."

Of course, I'm simply repeating the tale as told to me.

HER REDEEMING FEATURE

She wasn't sweet,
Nor very neat,
Yet let this much be said:
When with a broom
She sought a room,
She swept beneath the bed.

She wasn't worth
A pleasant berth.
She never could be led.
She wasn't cheap,
But she would sweep
Each time beneath the bed.

She wasn't smart,
Things flew apart
And shattered at her tread
But I will say
That every day
She swept beneath the bed.

So when this maid
Away is laid,
I'll carve above her head
These words of cheer:
"One lieth here
Who swept beneath the bed."

CRAZED BY JEALOUSY, HE COMITS MURDER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—John Neary, a teamster employed by the Sears & Roebuck store, was shot and killed by his wife, Mrs. Neary, last night. Neary is under arrest at the Central Police station brooding over the tragedy.

Neary said his wife had left home several days ago, and he was unable to find her whereabouts.

"I bought a pistol, with which I intended to kill myself on account of my wife leaving me," he said. "She returned home today, however, and I did not carry out my intention. She confessed that she had been visiting her sister, and I was astounded to learn that they had been together a number of days. I continued to work for me, eat at my board and so come in my house."

"After my wife's relations, I confronted her with the facts I had learned, as soon as he returned from work tonight. In a confident manner, but with the terrible confession I had heard still ringing in my ears, I told her that I had bought and loaded the revolver I had bought and loaded. Following Mevey to the barn, I fired five shots at him, four of which took effect."

Mevey was 25 years of age. The Nearys have two children, both boys, under 8 years of age.

FIGHTING BOB WILL MARSHAL BATTLESHIPS

NEW YORK, June 5.—Rear-Admiral Evans with the Connecticut flagship, the Ohio, the Iowa and the Boston, will steam today from the North River for the rendezvous on the Chesapeake Capes, where he will collect fourteen battleships and cruisers and anchor them at Hampton Roads next Friday.

George Day at the Jamestown Exposition which will be observed on June 10, will, so far as the naval display is concerned, probably be the greatest day of the exposition.

The president will review the combined foreign and United States fleets. As he approaches in the Mayflower more than thirty-five ships will roar a simultaneous salute of twenty guns each, and then as he passes each ship will singly fire a twenty-one gun salute.

All ships will be fully dressed with a rainbow of bunting and at night all will be illuminated.

COST OF LIVING IS ENORMOUS IN CUBA

HAVANA, June 5.—A committee of Conservatives headed by Governor Maximo, has called on Governor Maximo to demand relief measures against the enormous rise in the prices of food in the Cuban markets. The increased cost of living is said to be causing much suffering.

THE SAME OLD QUESTION IN MOMBASA

LONDON, June 5.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Mombasa reports that a native has been sentenced to five years' imprisonment and to receive twenty-four lashes for an attempted assault on the daughter of a European missionary.

The recent imprisonment of colonists for robbing natives in order to prevent crimes against white women, has caused intense feeling among the white settlers.

COULDN'T ENDURE HIS VIOLENT TEMPER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Kate V. Henry, the daughter of Dr. Voorhies, at one time prominent in the exclusive southern set, was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband, James Johnson, a company's bank in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Henry claims she was unable to endure her husband's violent temper and left him, returning to San Francisco in 1903. No alimony was asked for.

FINAL DRAFTS OF TREATIES ARE SIGNED

ST. PETERSBURG, June 5.—The final drafts of the Russo-Japanese commercial treaty have been signed and sent to Tokyo for approval. The answer of the emperor of Japan is expected during the latter part of the present week. The treaty will remain in force for five years, according to the Novye Vremya. It is more of a political than of an economic nature. The negotiations will be made public in a yellow book when the treaty is signed.

The treaty is a retroceded agreement between Russia and Japan

UNHAPPY PAIRS AIR TROUBLES

Butcher Hubby Trembles When Lump Sum Compromise Is Suggested.

Maud Milnthorpe, the pretty daughter of Foreman Charles Ingler of the grand jury, will receive $40 a month alimony for the next year, after that time expires she will be given $15 a month for the support of her three-year-old daughter. Such was the substance of a compromise that was effected yesterday in Superior Judge Milnthorpe's court between Arthur Milnthorpe, the butcher of Shattuck avenue and Dwight way, Berkeley, and his pretty bride, who will be given an interlocutory decree of divorce on the grounds of Milnthorpe's intemperate habits.

For $1000 Mrs. Milnthorpe said she would release her husband of all claims on his property, the unpaid piano and household furniture. The spouse could not listen to such a lump sum compromise, for he claims that there is a chattel mortgage on the butcher shop at the present time which would make such a settlement unreasonable. After a little negotiation between attorneys Waite and Reed, it was agreed that Mrs. Milnthorpe should be paid a monthly alimony and receive the household goods and piano.

Milnthorpe asked to have permission to take his little daughter to see his grandmother occasionally, but his wife and her mother shook their heads with such a negative enforcement that this provision will not be made in the interlocutory decree.

Judge Ellsworth remarked yesterday morning that Milnthorpe behaved a little better than most men in the divorce courts. Milnthorpe had made several efforts to have his wife return to him, but she declined to give him another opportunity to deceive her.

Minnie D. Jenne filed a motion yesterday to have the divorce suit she instituted against Theodore Jenne dismissed. She alleged in the divorce complaint filed some months ago that her husband was uncivil and worried her by complaining of his poor financial straits and would not speak to her at meals. The Jennes were married in Oakland, April 29, 1897 and have one child.

Another case where family troubles were adjusted out of the divorce courts was that in which Mary G. Slaves made motion yesterday to have the suit against Lawrence A. Slaves dismissed. She sued for a separation on the grounds of desertion. They were married in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, August 6, 1901.

Suit for divorce was brought yesterday by Mrs. C. A. Cain against S. L. Cain on the grounds of desertion.

DETECTIVES SEIZED STICK OF DYNAMITE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Detective Tom Ryan and Secretary J. H. Handon of the United Railroads seized seven sticks of dynamite that was shipped from San Mateo by the Wells Fargo company to Glynn brothers, striking carmen who reside at 1033 Tennessee street, and removed it to police headquarters in an automobile. Handon, who notified the police that the dynamite had been shipped, says that the Wells Fargo company has been co-operating with the United Railroads in looking out for explosives coming into San Francisco. The dynamite, he says, was detected in the office of the express company on account of the fact that nitroglycerine had begun to soak through the newspapers with which it was wrapped.

WEST OAKLAND, June 5.—There was delivered from the Southern Pacific freight depot at Fifth and Kirkham streets yesterday afternoon an auto-buggy of the Holman Automobile company's manufacture. It came packed in boxes, State agent I. E. Meum and local agents Tuttle set up the auto-buggy which carries State number 16,293 on its card, and turning the lever went speeding away propelled by the ten-horsepower engine under the auto-buggy seat.

This auto-buggy is to be used as a demonstrating car and is one of the best models. While such cars have been manufactured for five years, only eighteen have been purchased in this State, two of the number by Oakland residents. Dr. Herrick has had one for two years and Du Ray Smith recently acquired one.

The Holman auto is a four-wheeled rubber-tired vehicle, having the appearance of an ordinary buggy, with or without a top, except it has no pole in front.

"How fast can such a car travel?" Mr. Meum was asked.

"With its ten-horse-power engine it can be driven as rapidly as any person cares to ride," he replied.

"OAKLAND" WILL BE NEW SOUTHERN PACIFIC TOWN

Railroad Company Will Place Name on Ticket and Avoid San Francisco Stub.

"Oakland" will probably appear as a destination on Southern Pacific tickets hereafter instead of passengers being obliged to hold a stub entitling them to a trip across the bay, for the same price. Such was the promise of District Freight and Passenger Agent G. T. Forsyth of the Harborman lines in his letter to the Merchants' Exchange, which was read last night at the meeting of that body.

A complaint was made some time ago by C. J. Campbell who said he could not buy a railroad ticket at Reno for Oakland. He said he was in-

EXODUS OF THE DAY WORKERS

Able-Bodied Hands Are Seeking the Fields and Vineyards—Rooms to Rent.

WEST OAKLAND, June 5.—Now Charles Dugan, at her beautiful home that summer has arrived, not a few men who wintered in this section of the city are departing for other localities where they have interests. Some of them go to mining regions, others to stock farms or sheep ranges, and still others to orchards or vineyards. In consequence of this summer exodus, there are signs of "rooms to let" now displayed in windows of residences where a few months ago none were visible.

However, the demand for shops and stores at business locations continues, and along Seventh street, especially from Market street to the point, there are at present half a dozen two or three story buildings in process of construction. These are planned with stores on the ground floors and living apartments or office rooms above.

Wolf's two-story frame at the southeast corner of Seventh and Campbell streets, is nearly completed. It has two large stores on the first floor and two six-room flats on the second floor.

McIntyre's new two-story building at 1811-1813 Seventh street, is also almost finished. It has two fine stores on the ground floor, with apartments above.

A three-story brick on the south side of Seventh, west of Oakland, Alameda, is just completed and occupied, and a two-story building at the northwest corner of Myrtle and Seventh streets, with stores below and many rooms on the second floor, is being rushed to completion.

LAKE TAHOE AND RETURN

On June 7 the Southern Pacific Co. will sell low rate round trip tickets to Lake Tahoe including trip around the lake for $9.00. The trip will be made by the Berkeley. Delightful place for hunting, fishing and rowing and other sports. Excellent hotel accommodations; also tent life. Tickets good on train leaving regular train up to and including June 12th with the exception of the Overland limited.

JAPANESE LAUNDRIES ARE GETTING BIG PATRONAGE

Present Strike Has Afforded Orientals Opportunity to Improve Plants and Install Modern Machines.

WEST OAKLAND, June 5.—Taking advantage of the strike of white employees in steam laundries and the consequent demand by the general public for clothes washing facilities, numerous non-union laundries have been doing a big business in this section of the city during the last six weeks. In the opinion of observant residents it only needs a continuance of the steam laundry employees' strike to put the bulk of local clothes cleaning in the hands of Japanese, Chinese and French laundry owners.

MANY NEW LAUNDRIES.

On Seventh street alone there are eight or ten of these laundries west of Brush street, and scattered along the blocks towards Wood street. A majority of them are operated by Japanese. A few by French and a couple by Chinese. The Japanese have developed wonderfully in the laundry business of late. Where such laundries as the Togo and Fuji formerly employed only half a dozen Japanese, they now have not fewer than twenty to thirty busy hands, and in other ways with accustomed Oriental suavity are catering to the public in close imitation of white steam laundry owners.

Said a pioneer West Oakland resident on this subject: "It is remarkable how the Japanese have taken up the white man's burden in this laundry business. Why, a year ago there were few, if any, Japanese so employed; now there are hundreds. And if the union laundry workers keep on strike a while longer and the steam laundry owners continue increasing their charges for washing, it will all eventually result in the laundry business being thrown into the hands of Japanese, Chinese and French laundries, that is insofar as laundrying for families or individuals is concerned.

STEAM LAUNDRIES LOSE.

"Moreover, it is a mistake to assume that as soon as the steam laundries resume operations they will get back all their former patronage. These Japanese are imitative in laundrying as they are in everything else. They are introducing machinery into their laundries. Their employees can exist at one-fourth the cost for food that white persons insist on having. Many of them 'bunk' in small rooms in laundry buildings and pay no rent. They can and do therefore work for wages which even a 'lacy' white laundry worker would scorn to accept. Hence the Japanese owners, or the company operating the Japanese laundries, can cut prices to patrons, and still make greater profits than steam laundry owners.

JAPS HAVE GOOD PATRONAGE.

"Again it is an erroneous impression that obtains as to the class of patrons these Japanese laundries have gained. Not a few people imagine that only the poorer whites, laboring men and the like send their clothes to Japanese laundries. An inspection of the shelves in Japanese laundry offices, filled high

RE-BALLASTING THE ROAD BEDS

Southern Pacific Have Men Busy at Work Rehabilitating Road and Laying Rails.

WEST OAKLAND, June 5.—Big gangs of Southern Pacific company employees continue at work rehabilitating the road-bed and replacing worn rails with new eighty-pound rails along the line of the Seventh street local. This work was begun on the north side track at the Point, and one gang of men has covered the line as far east as Center street. Another gang of men working east of Market street.

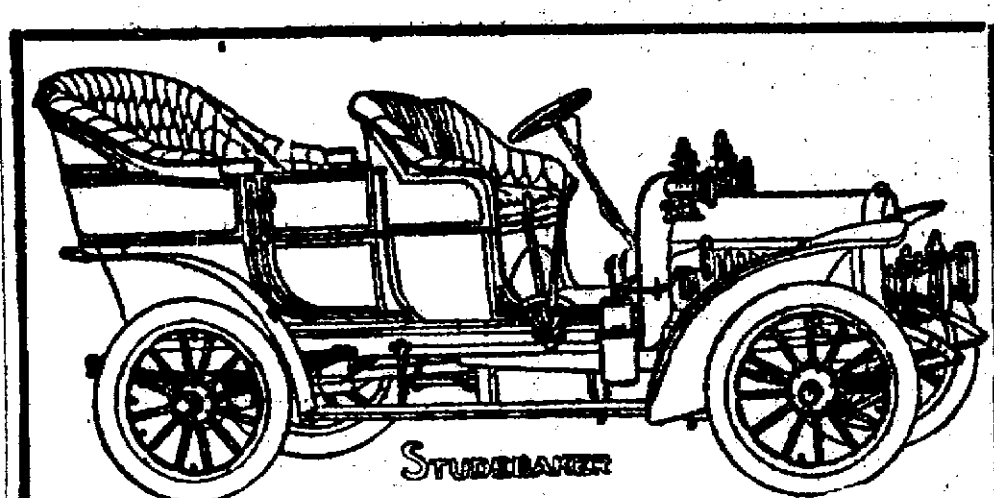

When the renovating of the Seventh street local tracks is completed the road will be in better condition than ever, and fit to receive electric cars whenever the company is prepared to change from steam to electricity. Seventh street, however, needs repaving, and its maintenance is being taken care of by the Southern Pacific company. Both sides of the street have been worn away below grade.

with bundles of laundered clothes, reveals that garments of finest texture, and such as are only worn by persons who are in well-to-do circumstances, are in the majority. An abundance of shirt waists, robes de nuit, long stockings, etc., indicate that women extensively patronize the Japanese laundries.

"Inquiry further reveals that not only are these Oriental and French non-union laundries patronized by the general public but that their wagons take from and deliver clothes to houses occupied by families whose heads are staunch members of labor unions. The Japs will cut prices whenever they feel the competition of steam laundries and we shall see them in time monopolizing a big share of the business."

S.S.S. RIDES THE SYSTEM OF MALARIA

Malaria is an atmospheric poison which we unconsciously breathe into our system. The blood in its constant passage through the lungs absorbs the germs, and they destroy the rich, red corpuscles of this vital fluid and reduce it to such a weak, watery condition that it is unable to properly nourish the system, and disease gets a foothold. Then the symptoms of Malaria, such as pale, sallow complexions, weak vitality, poor appetite, deranged digestion, and perhaps chills and fever show that the trouble is affecting every part of the body. Malaria also affects the liver, producing a chronic state of biliousness, and often a long spell of fever follows when the blood becomes fully contaminated with the poison. Chronic Sores and Ulcers, boils, aches and pains, and skin affections of various kinds often result from this insidious disease if the poison is allowed to accumulate in the blood in sufficient quantities. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. This great remedy goes down into the blood and drives out all germs, microbes and poisons, and permanently cures Malaria. S. S. S. not only cleanses the blood of the cause, but furnishes it with the healthful properties it needs, so that instead of a weak, germ-infected stream, spreading disease throughout the system, it becomes a rich, red fluid, nourishing the body and enabling it to resist disease. S. S. S. is also the greatest of all tonics, and builds up and invigorates the entire system while ridding the blood of the germs of Malaria. Persons who are suffering from Malaria will be pleased with the prompt and pleasant results produced by the use of S. S. S., and can take it with confidence because it is an absolutely safe medicine, being free from harmful minerals of any kind. AFTERNOON SESSION IN THE SCHMITZ CASE

Evidence Given as to Revocation of License for Tortoni's Restaurant in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The afternoon session of the Schmitz case was resumed at 2:05 o'clock.

Henry asked if the secretary of the police commission was in court, but there was no reply.

Billie Moore discovered "Eddie" Marchand, one of the witnesses, sitting in a front settee of the room and ordered him to leave the apartment. He then instructed all witnesses to step into the ante-room. There were no other witnesses in the chamber.

Ex-police Commissioner Reagan resumed the witness stand.

Pending the arrival of the secretary of the police commission Henry said he would introduce a transcript of the record of this commission relating to the license of the Tortoni restaurant. As Henry read them, the records showed that Stanislaus Constantino, the proprietor of the Tortoni restaurant, had been summoned to appear before the commission on the 15th of November, 1904, to show cause why the license of the place should not be revoked.

THE EVIDENCE.

On the 22d of the same month, in the afternoon, Constantino appeared. The case was continued until the evening of the same day. At the latter hearing testimony was taken, ex-Chief Wittman and Peterson testifying that the place was immoral because the management had sent out for women for guests. At the same meeting Constantino and Ruef testified for the restaurant, and as a consequence Tortoni was refused a license. Reagan, the witness, voted in the affirmative.

POODLE DOG LICENSE.

Henry then read the records relating to the Bay State license, showing that the license had been refused; that then a temporary permit had been granted to the effect that no liquor was to be sold above the first floor, and that finally, on Feb. 19, the permit had been granted and that suggestions for the regulation of French restaurants had been adopted by the commission. Henry then took up the matter of the Poodle Dog license. At that moment the books of the police commission bearing on the subject arrived in court.

PRISONER FIXES HIS SENTENCE AT THREE MONTHS

Youth Who Slapped His Mother Pleads Guilty and Must Spend Next Ninety Days in Prison.

For striking his mother in the face, as they stood in front of their home on Sixth street, Frank Logan was this morning sentenced to three months in the city prison by Police Judge Samuels. When Logan was arrested, a mob threatened summary punishment. He was held in jail for four days on a disturbing the peace charge. No complaint was filed by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Logan, and the young man was released yesterday. He was released on a battery charge, sworn to by Constable Tony Ambrose, and this morning pleaded guilty.

Logan gave as an excuse that he was intoxicated. Police Judge Samuels was not pleased with the plea and declared that he was only sorry that he could not give the prisoner a heavier sentence. Judge Samuels stated that he had known Logan many years, but did not ever expect to have to sentence him to jail.

"I would like to sentence you to the limit, Logan," said Judge Samuels. "What sentence should I give you?"

"About three months," said Logan. "That shall be your sentence," announced Judge Samuels.

ACTIVITY IN WHEAT MARKET

Prices Brisk at Opening—Ease Off Before Pit is Closed.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The wheat market today opened firm and with an active trading. Prices at Liverpool were reported higher than in the face of yesterday's decline, and prices steady. Later, however, the market eased off on general selling.

The weather reported favorable for the new crop and long showed a disposition to close out. July opened unchanged to 1/2¢ higher at 95¢ to 95 1/2¢, sold at 95 1/2¢ and then declined to 95 1/4¢. September opened a shade higher at 95 1/4¢, sold at 95 1/4¢ and then declined to 95 1/4¢. July closed steady at 95 1/4¢, sold at 95 1/4¢ and then declined to 95 1/4¢. BASEBALL PLAY SCORES A HIT

Members of St. Mary's Phoenix Team Will Give Second Performance.

The production of "Dye Know Me Now," which was given by the Phoenix baseball squad of St. Mary's College Tuesday night, came up to all expectations, both in regard to box office receipts and the manner in which the talented young men produced the farce.

It was a success in every way and the ball players as comedians have decided to reproduce it at St. Mary's College Sunday, June 16. The ball players hope the expenses, which will be incurred by the proposed trip through the State this summer, will be met by the box office receipts of both performances.

The program follows: "Welcome," college orchestra; vocal solo, Wm. J. Thompson; vocal quartet, Harry W. Krause, William J. Thompson, William J. O'Connor, Stephen J. Field; piano trio, "Jolly Blacksmiths versus Phoenix," Edward J. Burns, William J. Thompson; vocal solo, Reginald J. Guichard; violin solo, Louis Jennings; vocal solo, Stephen J. Field; "Greeting to the Champions," college orchestra. Play, "Dye Know Me Now."

Cast—Sam Tashl Dumps, Frank W. Mangan, Jolly Joe Perry, Charles W. Dunn, Harry Ahoon, Harry W. Krause, Samuel Tarnag, Wm. J. O'Connor, Dr. Kehoe, Harry B. Hooper, Peter Mehopp, Wm. J. Thompson; storekeeper of Jabez Ahoon, Edward Burns.

Chorus—Thomas Feeney, Harry Krause, Edward Burns, Joseph Hamilton, Frank Dunn, John Brady, Harry Hooper, Clarence Dugan, Charles Enright, William Thompson.

Interlude, "Can You Beat the Phoenix?"

Finale, "Now for a home run." Accompanists, Eugene Faure and Edward Burns.

BERKELEY POSTMASTER PRAISES FORMER CLERK

W. J. WILSON.

Schmidt Declares Muddled Accounts, if They Exist, Are Due to Small Force.

BERKELEY, June 5.—Following the dismissal of James W. Wilson from the Berkeley postoffice yesterday, Postmaster Schmidt today appointed Al Larsen as superintendent in charge of carriers and mailing department of the Berkeley office. Miss Muriel A. Hall was appointed as superintendent in charge of money order, registered mail, and general delivery departments. Larsen has been a clerk in the Berkeley postoffice for the past ten years, and Miss Hall has been employed there for six years.

BERKELEY, June 5.—There is nothing new developing today in the postoffice sensation resulting in the dismissal of Chief Clerk Wilson. As stated by postmaster Schmidt yesterday, the reasons for the action taken by the department were entirely in the hands of the inspectors and the order gives no reason for the dismissal. The straightforward, emphatic statement of Postmaster Schmidt that there is no shortage in accounts and nothing wrong in the office, leads many to think that the allegations made by friends of the local postoffice administration that there is spite work back of the move, is given credence and public opinion is that future developments should be awaited before passing judgment.

Mr. Schmidt reiterates that Wilson has been an efficient, painstaking, excellent official and if anything is found in his administration of the duties imposed by his position, they will be simply due to too much work, with a small force and not from crooked work. Mr. Wilson has nothing to say relative to his dismissal.

SMACKS FACE OF NEIGHBOR WHO CALLS TOYS 'RUBBISH'

Berkeley Matrons Have Heated Argument in Court Concerning Delivery of the First Blow.

Mrs. Rose Bebb, of 2227 Dwight way, Berkeley, is scrupulously particular about the appearance of her front porch. When she looked out of her bay window yesterday she was horrified to discover that a neighbor's child had left a pile of battered toys in wild disarray upon her cherished portico. In zealous haste she called her Japanese servant and directed him to remove the offending trinkets, which, in the course of her directions, she characterized as "rubbish."

When Mrs. Kate Purcell, whose little son is the owner of the toys, heard her child's playthings described in this contemptuous fashion, she rose up in motherly wrath and smacked Mrs. Bebb upon the cheek repeatedly. And Mrs. Bebb, feeling herself now doubly aggrieved, swore out a warrant for her neighbor's arrest, charged with the German anti-trust law.

Mrs. Bebb was found guilty as charged in Judge Quinn's court this morning. Sentence will be pronounced on Monday.

MRS. BEBB'S FACE SORE.

In the courtroom this morning Mrs. Purcell and Mrs. Bebb had a warm contention in words regarding the matter of who struck the first blow. Mrs. Purcell finally acknowledged that she struck Mrs. Bebb first and asked her who she was and Mrs. Bebb in return asked Mrs. Purcell who she was and then Mrs. Purcell landed her hand upon the face of Mrs. Bebb, causing it to be somewhat sore for a day or two after the battle. Mrs. Purcell in her testimony stated that Mrs. Bebb threatened to strike her with the door-key, but she did not do so. Mrs. Purcell said Mrs. Bebb told her to go to New Zealand or be placed on exhibit in a museum.

Mrs. Purcell wanted to know who was who and called Mrs. Bebb a janitress because she was the agent for Dr. Minor's hair oil on Dwight way. The whole trouble arose when Mrs. Bebb locked Mrs. Purcell's child out of the porch where she had been playing and had all her toys. One morning Mrs. Bebb ordered everything removed from the porch and the day did as he was told to do, but just as he was half way down the steps he was stopped by Mrs. Purcell, who warned him not to empty the toys in the garage barrel. The discussion between the two women followed.

Mrs. Bebb stated in court this morning that she had no objection to the child playing there, but wanted the place to look orderly, which was her motive for ordering the things removed. Then Mrs. Purcell said she would throw Mrs. Bebb down the stairs or hang her over the balcony if she did not leave her child's toys alone and Mrs. Bebb ran into an adjoining neighbor's apartment for protection.

The indictments involve the members of the Oregon Retail Furniture Dealers' Association, the Northwest Furniture Exchange, the Northwest Furniture Dealers' Association, Portland Retail Furniture Association, and the Lewiston (Idaho), furniture club and individual members of the California Retail Furniture Dealers' Association.

TISCH IS SAID TO BE DOGILE

Master Barber It Is Believed Is Ready to Conform to Union Wage Schedule.

Now it is said that John Tisch, proprietor of three big barber shops in this city, and who has been called on by the Journeymen Barbers' Union local 134, to pay his employees wages according to the union schedule, instead of allowing them a percentage of the money taken in for shaving, haircutting, face massaging, hair singeing and shampooing, will this evening at 6 o'clock, accede to the unions' ultimatum.

Tisch's men have not been called out, but should he fail to come to time this evening it is anticipated that such an order will be issued from headquarters of local No. 134.

Officials of the union, however, are confident that Mr. Tisch will agree to-night to hereafter conform to the wishes of the Barbers' union, and they say that he has become quite docile.

STREET RAILWAY SUE
FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Carl Helmsstein and Julia Helmsstein, his wife, have brought suit against the Oakland Traction company for $10,000 damages for the injuries said to have been sustained by Mrs. Helmsstein while riding one of the defendant's cars on January 25, 1907, when it collided with a southern Pacific local train at Lincoln avenue and Park street, Alameda.

Stanley Moore and E. A. Foley are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

COUNTY AUDITOR TO ENTER BUSINESS SOON

Deputy County Auditor J. H. Long will tender his resignation to County Auditor George S. Pierce, to take effect July 1. Long gives as a reason for his giving up the political office that he will enter business for himself. So far no one has been definitely selected to take the position vacated by Mr. Long's resignation, but Auditor Pierce says he has somebody in view.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WRITE VERY BADLY

Chirography in the public schools of this city is being given an careful consideration by the school authorities, as some complaints have been made by parents that their children are poor writers. It is said that much of the writing in the High School is not up to standard and the students are being given special instruction in this study.

Superintendent of Schools McClymonds said today that the writing was not up to standard, as last year there was no chirography instructor in the department.

L. M. SULLIVAN IS ARRESTED

NEW YORK, June 5.—L. M. Sullivan, of the L. M. Sullivan Trust Company, of Goldfield, Nevada, was arrested here today on a civil order in connection with a civil suit brought by Frank S. Colton of Pittsburgh, Pa., to recover $102,700, the par value of stock in one of Sullivan's mining companies which Colton was persuaded to purchase a year ago. Sullivan was paroled in custody of his counsel.

RICHARD CROKER'S HORSE WINS THE GREAT DERBY

Captured the Rich Prize at the Race Course in the Event Run at Epsom Today.

LONDON, June 5.—Richard Croker's Orby, ridden by Johnny Reiff, the American jockey, won the derby stakes of 6500 sovereigns at Epsom today. Distance about one mile and a half.

Wool Windor, ridden by Madden, the English jockey, was second, and Slieve Gallion, an Irish horse, ridden by Higgs, an English jockey was third.

Orby was bred in Ireland out of an American dam, and thus the derby has been won by an American owner, whose horse was ridden by an American jockey and whose mount was out of an American mare.

Nine horses started.

It's a long lane that has no turning. Richard Croker refused the training privileges of Newmarket Heath, forced to condition his horses in Ireland, has led back the winner of the English derby, the most coveted sporting victory in the world.

A few years ago Dick Croker, the ex-boss of Tammany, attended a yearling sale at Tattersall. When one of the yearlings was offered, Mr. Croker commenced bidding. He was quickly informed that Lord Marcus Beresford, who was opposing him, was acting for King Edward. It is the unwritten law of England not to bid against the sovereign, but Croker could not see it that way. He kept on lifting the price, and finally secured the youngster.

After that the way in England was pretty rocky for the ex-boss. He found himself tabooed everywhere and took his horses to Ireland, where he sat down to watch and wait. "I'll go back and win their derby," said the Tammany man, and he did it.

ARREST BOYS FOR ROBBERY

Police Claim Lads of Ten Have Committed Many Burglaries.

Eugene Lafferty of 315 Eleventh street and Louis Melleur of 1005 Harrison street, each aged about 10 years, were arrested this afternoon accused of having robbed the Lincoln school and produce stores of the San Francisco Fruit & Produce company and J. Angell on Eleventh street.

The police claim the lads committed several burglaries obtaining considerable loot in each instance. It is thought that the boys will not be prosecuted, but will be turned over to the probation officer.

LIQUOR LOVE BREAKS UP TWO HAPPY HOMES

After her husband's absence of six years, Mrs. Maud E. Baker was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce today by Judge Waste from Alpheus Baker. She says she was an ironworker when they lived in Emeryville she loaned him $5 one day and has never heard of him since. He said he was going to China because she would scold him for drinking rum.

An interlocutory decree was given to Eugenia V. Hascom today from Edmund H. Hascom. Hascom had a craving for intoxicants. It is said he left his wife in order to quench his thirst. Hascom was employed as a bookkeeper. They were married in St. Helena in 1902.

Helen Myers brought suit for divorce this afternoon from Alexander Myers. Desertion is alleged.

MIDDLEMISS MAY YET ESCAPE JAIL

Judge Waste has overruled all the affidavits introduced by Attorney Jennings and Donovan in their efforts to have a new trial granted Thomas Middlemiss, who is now in the county jail, having been convicted of selling goods under false pretenses. The only point on which there now hangs a possibility for Middlemiss to have another hearing is on the alleged conduct of J. E. Strauss, the juror who is accused of attempting to seduce her in order to have his ballot on the verdict.

Should Judge Waste hold that Strauss had violated his behavior as a juror after he had received the admonition of the Court to refrain from discussing the case, Middlemiss will likely have a new trial, and with the additional evidence he says he has collected, he expects an acquittal.

TEMBLOR IN SAN FRANCISCO

No Damage Done by the Quake Across the Bay This Morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A heavy earthquake shock startled this city from its sleep this morning when the day was just twenty-five minutes old. It lasted for several seconds, and was felt distinctly in all parts of town. No damage has been reported.

According to Professor McAuliffe, of the Weather Bureau, the temblor ranks as number four in the seismic scale. The earthquake of April last year ranks as number nine, so that the shake of this morning was nearly half as severe as the big one of April 18.

HARRY ORCHARD MAKES AWFUL CONFESSION

MARCOVICH MURDERER MAY BE IN CUSTODY

Said to Be in a Louisiana Prison and a Warrant Has Been Issued for His Arrest.

Mrs. Jennie M. Marcovich, widow of John Marcovich, who was murdered on April 19 of this year by Frank Smith, alias Ed Short, a discharged waiter, today swore to a warrant charging Smith with murder.

The warrant will be forwarded to a small town in Louisiana, where it is thought the fugitive is now in custody.

Chief of Police Wilson believes the Louisiana suspect is the man who is wanted.

Chief of Police Wilson this morning received word from a small town in Louisiana that a man, thought to be Frank Smith, murderer of John Marcovich, is now in custody in that city. Chief Wilson was asked by the Louisiana authorities to send instructions at once, which was done.

A telegram, requesting that a photograph and description be forwarded here at once, was sent. As nothing further has been heard as yet, Chief Wilson could not say whether or not he thought the Louisiana suspect is Smith. Smith was a waiter in the Gas Kitchen some months ago, and after being discharged returned and shot to death John Marcovich, one of the proprietors. An unidentified body was found in the estuary several weeks after the murder and it was thought at first that it was that of Smith. The police investigated, however, and announced that the body was not Smith's, and that the fugitive was still at large. Circulars were sent all over the United States and into Canada and the arrest of the suspect in Louisiana was the result of the receipt there of one of these circulars, containing a description and photograph of the murderer.

JAPANESE WILL SUE THE CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

Will Demand Big Damages Because Their Houses Were Wrecked by Hoodlums.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Japanese trouble in San Francisco possibly will be settled by a recourse to the law. Information has been received here to the effect that the Japanese consul-general in San Francisco is contemplating bringing a suit against the city of San Francisco for damages incurred by the owners of the Horse Shoe Restaurant and the Folsom Bathhouse from the attack by a mob on May 20 last.

The action, if brought, will be under the State law and in the name of the owners of the places wrecked. It is understood that the Japanese will be perfectly satisfied with judicial determination of the case.

CORNELIUS CHARGES CHEAP PLOT TO PREJUDICE PEOPLE

Claims That Union Has Been Always Cognizant of Scheme to Cast Discredit on Carmen.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—President Cornelius of the Carmen's Union says he has complete evidence to show that the delivery of dynamite in San Francisco is a plot traceable to the United Railroads.

He says that another package of dynamite is now lying in the offices of the Wells-Fargo Company, addressed to J. McDonald, 1204 Grove street, and has been undelivered for a week. J. McDonald is a member of the executive committee of the Carmen's Union.

REFUSED TO SIGN. "The reason why Mrs. Glynn refused to sign for the dynamite delivered yesterday," said President Cornelius, "was that we had warned our members not to sign for any packages of this kind without investigating. We did not know who was to get this second package of dynamite."

"You will find that Mrs. McDonald was warned not to sign for the package addressed to her husband, and that she knew of it several days before this other package was delivered to the Glynn."

TRACING DYNAMITE. "We have been very busy this morning trying to run down the dynamite business. We went to the Wells-Fargo office, but could get no further information than that the shipment was made by a man named Reed. Our men went to the San Mateo office of the Wells-Fargo Company, and could find out that only after a conference with United Railroad officials, the Wells-Fargo people had decided not to

BURGLAR RANSACKS ROOM AND GETS RINGS

Several valuable rings were stolen last night by a burglar who broke into the room of Frank Ball at 2109 Filbert street. Ball has reported the theft to the police and states that the following loot was obtained: Ring engraved with "M. J. J." man's band ring; three women's rings, one set with blue stones and the others with the settings gone.

Miss E. Yorker of the board of education has reported that a valuable Scotch collar was stolen from her home several days ago.

Raymond Birdsell, residing on Thirtieth street, between Clay and Jefferson streets, and Joseph Dinelli of 741 Myrtle street have reported the loss to their bicycles.

ON WITNESS STAND AGAINST HAYWOOD

SLAYER CLOSELY GUARDED

Excitement in Court When Witness Is Called.

BOISE, Idaho, June 5.—A well-groomed, stockily built man, dressed in a gray sack suit and apparently as composed as any one of his hearers, the man known as Harry Orchard, a self-confessed murderer, took the stand in the Ada County court at 9:42 this morning. He is the principal witness against W. D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg and who is by Orchard's story connected with many fearful crimes. Some knowledge of the ghastly details of the case is reached by Orchard from time to time since his arrest, but the crowded courtroom thrilled when early within the first fifteen minutes of his testimony, Orchard, in reply to a question from J. H. Hawley, leading counsel for the State, coolly said:

"I lit one of the fuses that blew up the concentrator mill at Wardner on April 29, 1899. Two men were killed."

COURTROOM FILLED. A courtroom seating some 300 people was filled to its capacity. Among the spectators were many women. A number of the seats reserved inside the bar were also occupied by the wives of attorneys or relatives of those concerned in the case. Haywood was the principal figure of a family group.

His invalid wife, in her rolling chair, was immediately to his right. Next to her his mother, a handsome woman of sixty years, who appeared in court today for the first time. Again to his right, Haywood's sister, a slight and pretty girl in white waist and black skirt.

SITUATION DRAMATIC. Orchard was called this morning earlier than was anticipated. Several minor witnesses were examined. Then came the first really dramatic situation in the course of Haywood's trial.

"We will have our next witness here in a few minutes, your honor," pronounced Senator Borah. There was a stirring in the courtroom, and then there fell a silence maintained for fully five minutes. Judge, jury, bar and public waited until Sheriff Slayd Hodgkin notified to Senator Borah.

"Our next witness will be Harry Orchard," said the Senator addressing the court. Then Orchard entered through the side door leading to the judge's room. He walked straight up the aisle, sprang forward and followed by sheriffs and detectives. They passed through the bar enclosure out into the audience along the outer rail, again entering the enclosure at the center gate.

TELLS OF FEARFUL DEEDS. Orchard was sworn and erected to the witness chair immediately in front of the judge and jury. Every eye was on the remarkable man who was there to place his own neck in the noose and whose story as told on the stand up to noon today reveals an almost endless chain of fearful deeds done by him and his fellows.

Haywood perhaps was the most intense of the spectators. For the greater part of the morning he kept his one eye fixed staring upon the witness who seldom glanced away from him. Now and then he flushed slightly under a sallow skin.

SHOWS EMOTION. When later, Orchard told how Haywood had paid $300 for blowing up the Vindicator mine and agreed with him for other murders, Haywood choked hard on a lump in his throat, but otherwise he showed little emotion.

At recess Haywood ever chattered pleasantly with some friends and laughed heartily at a joke by one of his counsel.

Orchard will be allowed to tell his whole story, leaving out certain minor details. This question was settled this morning when Judge Wood said that on assurance from counsel for the State that they would connect Haywood with the story of the Cour D'Alene mine and the murder of Frank Steunenberg and am waiting trial.

"I was born in Northumberland county, Canada, in 1866, and am therefore 41 years old," went on the witness in answer to Hawley's questions.

GIVES REAL NAME. "Harry Orchard is not my true name. I have gone by that name for about eleven years. My true name is Alfred Horsley. I came to the United States in 1886, first to Spokane, where I remained a week. I went to Wallace, Idaho in March or April, 1886. I first worked for Markel Brothers, driving a milk wagon and remained there until about Christmas, 1886. I then went to a wood and coal yard in Burk, Idaho, and was engaged in that business until the spring of 1889 on my own account for two years. In 1889 I sold a half interest in the business to McFarland. My business in Canada was making cheese. I sold all my interests in the wood yard and went to work in the mine in March, 1889. I went to work at 'mucking' and continued at it for a month. I became a member of the Western Federation of Miners as soon as I went to work in the mines."

ORCHARD GUARDED. Orchard said he joined the Burke, Idaho, local of the Western Federation of Miners. This was in the Cour D'Alene country to Hawley, giving the railroad connections between the different cities and mining companies. Orchard testified Deputy Beaumont and his assistants stood at the side of him and about three feet in the rear of the witness chair. When Orchard first came in there was a stir in the courtroom and several persons knew nothing of the proceedings. A half dozen balliffs chorused in unison a loud command to be seated.

"State what unusual occurrence there was at Burke on the morning of April 29, 1899," commanded Hawley from the witness.

"We object to that," shouted Attorney Richardson for the defense.

HARRY ORCHARD, CONFESSED ASSASSIN, WHO WAS PLACED ON THE WITNESS STAND AT BOISE TODAY BY THE HAYWOOD PROSECUTION.

Simpkins some time ago went under the name of Simmons. The hotel registers were allowed in evidence by Judge Wood, the defense objecting and excepting to the ruling. Wentz was not cross-examined.

HAYWOOD TAKES NOTES. Haywood took notes in a book during the examination of the witnesses today. There was a delay of several minutes after the testimony of the witness, Senator Borah simply announcing:

"The next witness will be here in a moment."

Immediately there was intense excitement in the courtroom, the report quickly spreading that Orchard was the man next expected in the witness chair, the crisis of the case being reached.

ORCHARD CALLED. Orchard had spent the night in Boise and had been sent for. Finally to relieve the strain and restlessness in the courtroom came the loud voice of Hawley, the state, saying:

"Call Harry Orchard."

Hardly had the words left his mouth when Orchard appeared at the door leading from the prisoners' section of the hallway. He was preceded by a witness chair, by Deputy Sheriff "Ras" Beamer, a stalwart fellow more than six feet in height and was followed by another deputy from the penitentiary. Orchard had to pass directly in the rear of Haywood and his family. His eyes were cast down.

Arriving at the elevated witness stand Orchard stood for a moment with his head bowed while the clerk delivered the oath.

"Where do you live?" asked Mr. Hawley.

Orchard did not seem prepared for just this question and hesitated a moment. Finally in an almost inaudible tone he said he was confined in the State penitentiary.

"Speak up, Mr. Orchard," said Senator Borah, "are you charged with any crime?" asked Hawley.

The prisoner turned his glance for a moment to Haywood and then said: "I am charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg and am waiting trial."

"I was born in Northumberland county, Canada, in 1866, and am therefore 41 years old," went on the witness in answer to Hawley's questions.

BRIDEGROOM BANQUETTED UPON EVE OF HIS NUPTIALS

Many Friends of State Senator Lukens Signalize Regard for Him in Eloquent Speeches.

With unbounded expressions of good will and hopes for his future success and happiness, the hand of good fellowship was extended last night to State Senator George Russell Lukens by a large company comprising many of his most intimate friends, social, fraternal and political. The occasion was a banquet tendered to Senator Lukens at the Key Route Inn by his local friends, and in a pleasant way signalized his intention to soon leave the ranks of bachelorhood to join the hosts of benedict. Senator Lukens is to depart tonight for Washington, D. C., where he is waiting to espouse his Miss Emma V. Mullan of that city.

The banquet last night was served in the large billiard room of Key Route Inn, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion. The decorations were of purple sweet peas and candelabra, and the ice cream were also purple hued. The table, on which covers for sixty-five bachelors were laid, was in the shape of the letter "H". The invited guests assembled shortly before 8 o'clock, and during the ensuing four hours eloquence, wit and good fellowship ruled. At midnight the company reluctantly bade adieu to Senator Lukens and automobiles were whirling his friends away from the Key Route Inn, when an earthquake shock occurred as a sort of post-prandial to the festivities.

RELINQUISHES TOASTMASTER. Superior Judge E. A. Melvin, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in the United States and most intimate friend and Senator Lukens in the class of '82, presided a toastmaster at the banquet. The Judge made brief opening remarks, alluding to the impending matrimonial event in which Senator Lukens is to participate in Washington, D. C., and eulogized his friend's many good qualities.

During the evening a telegram was sent to Miss Mullan at Washington conveying to her the congratulations and best wishes of the assembled company on her approaching marriage to Senator Lukens.

A message of regret was read from Governor Gillette, who stated that the illness of his son prevented him from being present at the banquet, also messages from Lieutenant-Governor Porter, Past Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks, Colonel Robert W. Brown of Louisville, Ky., Past District Deputy Thomas W. D. Dunn of San Francisco, Past Exalted Ruler I. Harrison Clay of Oakland Lodge of Elks, Judge Charles N. Post, Past Exalted Ruler of Sacramento Lodge of Elks, John J. Lerman of San Francisco, a classmate of Senator Lukens at the University of California, and others.

TOASTS AND RESPONSES. The toasts responded to included "The President of the United States," "The President of the United States," "The Governor of California," by Attorney George W. Reed; "The Senate of California," by W. E. Dargie; "Wealth in the Mine of Matrimony on the Level," by D. H. Benjamin; "Votations of Oakland Lodge of Elks 171," by George D. De Golia; "Greater North America," by J. E. Downey, member of the Canadian Parliament.

Frank Devlin responded to the sentiment, "The Babies," and Colonel Moses Patrick O'Brien, secretary to Grand Exalted Ruler Melvin, responded to the toast, "To Mothers, Wives, Sisters and Sweethearts." The Bachelor followed, and was responded to by E. Myron Wolf, State Insurance Commissioner, who was introduced as "One of the Peaches Left on the Tree."

Past Exalted Ruler H. C. Capwell, of Oakland Lodge of Elks, responded to the 11 o'clock toast of that order, "Dead Ones" was the sentiment which Exalted Ruler Charles L. Tisdale of Oakland Lodge said was impossible because they were now sitting in that lodge. "Friendship that Endures Throughout Life—World Without End" was the toast given to Past Exalted Ruler Percy V. Long, of San Francisco Lodge, No. 1.

To Superior Judge Frank B. Ogden was allotted the toast, "Summing Up," which the crowd decided to do by singing against matrimony.

LUKENS IS POETICAL. "The Bride-to-Be" was then given, and the guest of the evening, Senator Lukens, was called on to respond. He admitted, in taking the toast, that he had been on the other side of the case, and he assured those present that he would never hear from him in propria persona. In speaking of his intended bride the Senator eloquently quoted Poet Browning, beginning:

"She's like a dewdrop—She's so pure that the purest."

He then spoke of the close friendship he had formed with those at the table and how he appreciated them. Feelingly he referred to the many good qualities of the order and the noble work which is being done by it, locally and nationally. He then spoke of how he had been helped and broadened by his membership in Oakland Lodge of Elks, and promised that he would be a member of the committee on laws of the Supreme Grand Lodge of Elks.

At 11 o'clock of the evening, "The Flag of Our Country," was eloquently responded to by Colonel Melvin, every one in singing, "Auld Lang Syne."

There were innumerable well-wishes uttered during the banquet and many eloquent passages in the various responses to the toast, "The Bride-to-Be," by the Canadian parliament, who is a guest at Key Route Inn, fairly filled the room. The toast, "Greater North America," in which he depicted the friendly relations existing between the people of the United States and Canada and the common origin of the inhabitants of both continents, was responded to by a member of the committee on laws of the Supreme Grand Lodge of Elks.

The banqueters left the Key Route Inn feeling that they had enjoyed every minute of their time and that they would never be their fortune to participate in.

HE WOULD GIVE ME $200 TO SET THE POWDER OFF AND BLOW UP THE MINE. "The union men had all been called out on strike. I asked a companion named Davis to go with me to the mine. He said all right and that he thought we were justified. We went into the mine and I told him to get a box of the man running the cage. He ran into a tunnel. We did not find the powder and came out of the mine. The night before, in November some time W. F. Davis and Sherman Parker, who were in charge of the strike, came to me and asked me to go with them to the mine. They said they would give me $200 for it. I did not want to do it for they had not paid him for the last time he went into the mine. I told them I was broke and he would help me. I got fifty pounds of giant powder and arranged it so we could blow up the mine. I was set off by the lifting of the guard rail as the cage passed the seventh level. We placed the bomb but did not want anything of it for about a week when it exploded. Superintendent Charles McDaniel and M. L. Beck, a shift boss, were killed."

PLOT IS MADE. "I saw Davis and Barker after this at the miners' hall and we talked it over a little. I went home with them that night. I told them I was broke and wanted some money and they said they would have to get it from headquarters. They said they would get it for me. They wanted me to go to Victor with them."

"I held back at first, but they said they would pay me $100. I went with them. I was asked again for the money, saying I might have to get out. Parker said they would pay me $100. I went with them. The next day, however, both Davis and Parker were arrested; the day following the meeting at Victor. W. F. Davis was also arrested, but released on habeas corpus. He went to Denver and stayed there for a while. I saw Wood and Mercer at their offices in the Miners' Exchange building."

"I knew them only by sight prior to this. I told them I was broke and they knew me by reputation. Moyer asked me if I wanted any money and I said not at that time, but later Moyer said Easterly had told him who blew up the Vindicator mine and killed McCormick and Brock."

PAID FOR WORK. "Haywood told me the blowing up of the mine was all a piece of work and they were much pleased with it. I talked to Haywood, Moyer and Easterly about the matter. They said they would be nothing further for me but night work for a while. Haywood said we would have to leave these fellows up at Cripple Creek."

"Moyer gave me $20 and Haywood later on. Moyer paid me $50 for blowing up the mine."

"I returned to Cripple Creek in December, 1898, and since then I have done my own mining. Haywood and I both told me I could not go too far to suit them, but to go ahead and blow up anything I could think of, and to get some of the soldiers if possible."

MUST PAY $10 TO STRIKE YOUR WIFE. August Exola, found guilty of a charge of battery on his wife, Mrs. Pauline Exola, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10. Exola claimed that he had not struck his wife, but had merely reproached her with her occupying her time in flirting with his employees or preparing his meals.

NORDICA, THE NIGHTINGALE, KNEW HUSBAND HAD WIFE WILL ESTABLISH BAYREUTH WHEN SHE MARRIED HIM

GREAT FORTUNE TO BE DEDICATED Famous Singer Will Realize Dream of Her Life.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Madame Lillian Nordica, the Herald announces today, will establish on the Hudson, near New York, a Bayreuth in America. With a part of her great fortune, the noted singer will erect the Lillian Nordica festival house, which will be to this country what the famous opera house in Bayreuth is to Germany. Richard Wagner and now maintained by his widow, is to Europe.

SITE PURCHASED.
The site for the institution was purchased yesterday for $100,000, and Madame Nordica expects that the opera house will be ready for its formal dedication one year from next summer.

An American Institute of music, where American young men and women who aspire to operatic honors, will be taught by the famous teachers in the world, is included in the plans of the famous singer. In a statement in which she announced her plans, Madame Nordica said:

LIFE'S AMBITION.
"Call my object philanthropic or what you may, but the idea of founding in my country an American Bayreuth has been my life's ambition. All the years I have been singing I have dreamed of such an institution. Now I am able financially to start this great project which I know will be an institution which after I am dead will continue to grow and enlighten the people of this country who are now awakening to the benefits to be derived from a musical education. Such as was not dreamed of ten years ago."

WILL COVER FOUR ACRES.
"The building that will be a part of the American Institute of music alone will cover four acres. They will be erected close to the Lillian Nordica festival house. In connection with the institute there will be dormitories and houses where the students at little expense will be able to live while pursuing their musical studies.

MME. LILLIAN NORDICA.

A regular faculty of teachers and they will be paid for their services more than they can hope to earn abroad.

"The Lillian Nordica Festival House will be in every way an exact reproduction of the theater erected by Richard Wagner. The Wagner operas will be given there in the summer with the greatest artists in the world."

PROMISED FIRST SPOUSE DIVORCE

Matilda Janaviere Is Loyal to Her Lover.

"Feeling assured that Jack Walter Stockford had the consent of his first wife to get a divorce, I married him," said Matilda Janaviere this morning in an interview with a TRIBUNE reporter. "I was never in love before and I never will marry again. He didn't get a divorce for my sake, though I love him as I have loved no other man. He always treated me as a gentleman should, and I will not swear to a warrant. I would not send the biggest murderer in the world to jail. I will ask his wife when she comes out here to allow him to go free. I will gladly allow him to go back to her and I will go back to my laundry work a free woman. Although I have three things to prove that he is my husband, I'll permit him to go back to his first wife if she does not grant him a divorce. I will not live with him until he is granted a divorce. When I married him he stated that he had his wife's permission to secure a divorce. I do not know his wife and I have not the slightest idea where she resides. Before I married him I asked him if he was divorced and he said yes, and he gave me his word that he had his wife's consent to marry. The chief of police said to me yesterday that I had no claim on Stockford. He said I am as free as I ever was. I don't want him sent to jail because the laundry girls will laugh at my husband for marrying a man that had a wife living. We were very happy the day we were married; I never felt any happier."

LOVE REMAINS UNCHANGED.
"How do you suppose I could have deserted myself if I hadn't married Jack? He was the only man I believe that I have ever loved. I love him still and always will. I don't want to change my opinion of Stockford. He is a perfect gentleman and I have nothing against him. The day he left home he paid my room rent and trusted me. I would have been wandering about the streets if it hadn't been for Jack. As I was forced to leave home, my surroundings were so unpleasant I could not tolerate my home any longer. I was married, I was dependent on Jack for money as I was out of a position and had nobody to assist me. I haven't known Jack a month and a half and he has always been a good friend to me. He married me under the name of Jack Walter Stockford, though his right name is Walter Stockford.

MATILDA JANAVIERE, WHO MARRIED WALTER STOCKFORD, ALREADY A MARRIED MAN.

"After we were married I liked him and he liked me, and we will like each other until the very end. It was my fate to marry him and he is my affinity, or I would never have married him. I will not under any circumstances live with Stockford until he has a divorce. I heard his wife sued him for a divorce, but I do not know how much truth there is to the story.

LONGED FOR A HOME.
"My parents would not allow me to go with any young man; they were always very strict with me and I made up my mind to get married, as I longed for a home. A peaceful home. I wasn't hypnotized by Jack, nor did he have much influence over my life up to the time I left home. He is a dear to me now as he was before the trouble broke out. I don't want Jack prosecuted. It is my duty to plead with his first wife regarding the freedom of Stockford. I would not put a straw in her way; I want the man to go free."

Stockford will be sentenced on a charge of theft by Judge Samuels on June 11. The police are investigating other charges against him other than the stealing of two guns from the armory. They are to communicate with his first wife and she will apparently be here soon. Miss Janaviere is in a nervous condition and refuses to see anybody. She declares that this has been a life lesson for her.

Some People

take an insane delight in saving money, while others take an insane delight in spending it. It is equally true that some people have gone insane from the lack of it or their inability to earn money in paying quantities. By "paying quantities" I mean enough to sustain life and provide the creature comforts, with a small reserve for a "rainy day." There is no doubt that the greatest delight is found in earning money by honest toil, after which saving and spending (in moderation) are matters of education.

HER BODY IS FOUND IN WELL

Minneapolis Mystery Is Cleared Up by Detectives—Brother-in-Law Suspected.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—The body of Mrs. Catherine McCarty, who lived in Minneapolis and who has been missing since May 24, was found yesterday by detectives in an abandoned well on the farm of George Katselbach a few miles out from the city. The woman's head had been crushed and the body was partly clothed.

Katselbach, owner of the farm, is a brother-in-law of the dead woman, and all last night guarded the house in which he had barricaded himself.

Soon after the woman disappeared, Katselbach gave out a statement that the woman came to his house on May 24 and left for her farm, two miles away. Later Katselbach said the woman possibly had been devoured by wolves.

13TH STREET CAR TRACKS

Suspension of Work on the Changing of Gauge Causing Trouble.

The condition of Thirteenth street, between Webster and Washington streets, was one of the irritating subjects which the Board of Public Works had to consider from two different standpoints this morning. Superintendent Potter of the Oakland Traction was hauled over the coals and explained the situation by saying that the work of changing the gauge of the tracks necessitated the construction of new railroad crossings at Webster street and Broadway and a new switch at Washington street, and that the company was now waiting for these, when construction would be pushed ahead without delay. Then came A. Abrahamson, who notified the Board of Public Works that if something was not done on or before next Monday toward the reconstruction of the switch into Washington street and the track thence east to Broadway, suit would be instituted in the Superior Court. He claimed that the track had not been in use for a year, that the company was not fulfilling its obligations with those who had given the original builders of the road bonuses to help carry out the enterprise, nor the terms of the franchise. "Something must be done, and that right away," said Mr. Abrahamson, "and if the Board of Works will not move in the matter then we shall move ourselves."

The commissioners promised to see that something was done without delay, and the prospect is that the Oakland Traction Company will have to begin reconstruction at once from the west end of the branch at Washington street and work eastward to the Webster street crossing.

Superintendent Potter is to be spurred in the matter. He is to be required to sprinkle the street and Broadway at the company's expense in order to lay the dust, which is a great nuisance to the public generally and particularly to those engaged in business on the street.

THANK THE IDORA PARK MANAGEMENT

At a meeting of the banquet committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon the secretary was instructed to express by resolution the thanks of the committee to the Idora Park management, Theo. C. Co. Mrs. George D. Hallahan, Oakland Traction Company, Oakland (Oakland Light & Heat Company) for the entertainment and to the members of the reception committee for their services rendered.

MEMORY LOST THROUGH INJURY

Joseph Block Fails to Recall How His Skull Was Fractured.

Joseph Block, the junk dealer who received a fractured skull last Friday in Trestle Glen, supposedly from an attack by a thug, is gradually recovering from his injuries and is becoming more rational. He now states that he went to Trestle Glen with a old customer with whom he had been doing business for some time. He does not know the man's name, nor does he remember being struck by the man. The police have obtained a description of the man and he may be arrested.

A peculiar condition has arisen in Block's case, his mind being a blank as to the occurrences after he reached Trestle Glen. The doctors are endeavoring to develop his mental faculties, so that he will be enabled to remember what happened to him and how he received his injuries.

Block says that he was told by his customer to go with him to Trestle Glen and that he would sell him a peddle, but what happened when they arrived in Trestle Glen, Block does not know.

CITY EMPLOYEE ASKS FOR REINSTATEMENT

E. F. Scott, a Grand Army man who had formerly been employed in the crosswalk gang on the city streets, has applied for reinstatement. It appeared from the discussion of the case between Scott and the Mayor that he had been dismissed from the service because of offensive conduct at a Watt tract political meeting during the last campaign, while under the influence of liquor. Scott said in his own defense, that he had been in the habit of getting drunk during working hours, which he positively denied to the Mayor. He desired to be reinstated on that point, as it was a matter of principle with him and he would like to get restored to work for the reason that his daughters had been very unfortunate since the earthquake and San Francisco fire and about the Watt tract incident and thought he might have acted indiscreetly.

On motion of Scott's having been drunk or under the influence of liquor was stricken from the record. "That will be the case," remarked the Commissioner, "and that is what you say you want."

"Reinstatement to the city's service," added the Mayor, "will have to depend upon circumstances. It may be possible to give you work."

M'GILL IS HELD TO SUPERIOR COURT

A. C. McGill, charged with the murder of his former partner Henry Thompson, was held to answer to the Superior Court this morning by Police Judge Smith. The testimony of the prosecution showed that McGill had stepped into the kitchen of his home, and seeing Thompson quarreling with Mrs. McGill, shot and wounded Thompson. Thompson died a few days later from his wounds.

Mrs. McGill sat weeping in court, holding her husband's hand during the hearing.

JURY OF HIS PEERS WILL DECIDE CASE

A jury will decide the question as to whether Ellis Coleman was drunk or not during the morning when he was arrested and booked on charges of drunkenness and carrying concealed weapons. Coleman appeared in Police Court No. 2 and asked for a jury trial on the drunkenness charge and a court trial on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. The hearing on the first charge was set for June 25th and the second, June 11th.

CHANGES ON CAR ROUTES

A New Schedule Will Go Into Effect Tomorrow—Much Transferring Avoided.

Several changes in the routes of various street car lines go into effect tomorrow, and with the changes, the confusion and transferring about the city will be brought into closer connection and the necessity of transferring between them avoided.

The Hayward cars will run on Broadway, College avenue and the College avenue and Broadway lines. The College avenue and Broadway cars will run on Broadway, College avenue and the College avenue and Broadway lines.

The Sixteenth street depot cars which run to East Oakland will go out as far as Linda Park station, Moore. Instead of following Twelfth street across Broadway they will turn on to San Pablo avenue at Twelfth street, turning there to the station.

The only cars hereafter to run on Twelfth street west of Broadway, under the new schedule, will make the eastern terminus at Broadway, running between that point and the Sixteenth street station.

The Shattuck avenue cars, which have heretofore run from Bancroft way and Shattuck avenue to Berkeley, will hereafter turn into Twelfth street at Broadway, and make their eastern terminus Fourth avenue and Prospect street, East Oakland. The Berkeley terminus is to remain the same.

NAT GOODWIN TO PLAY AT MACDONOUGH

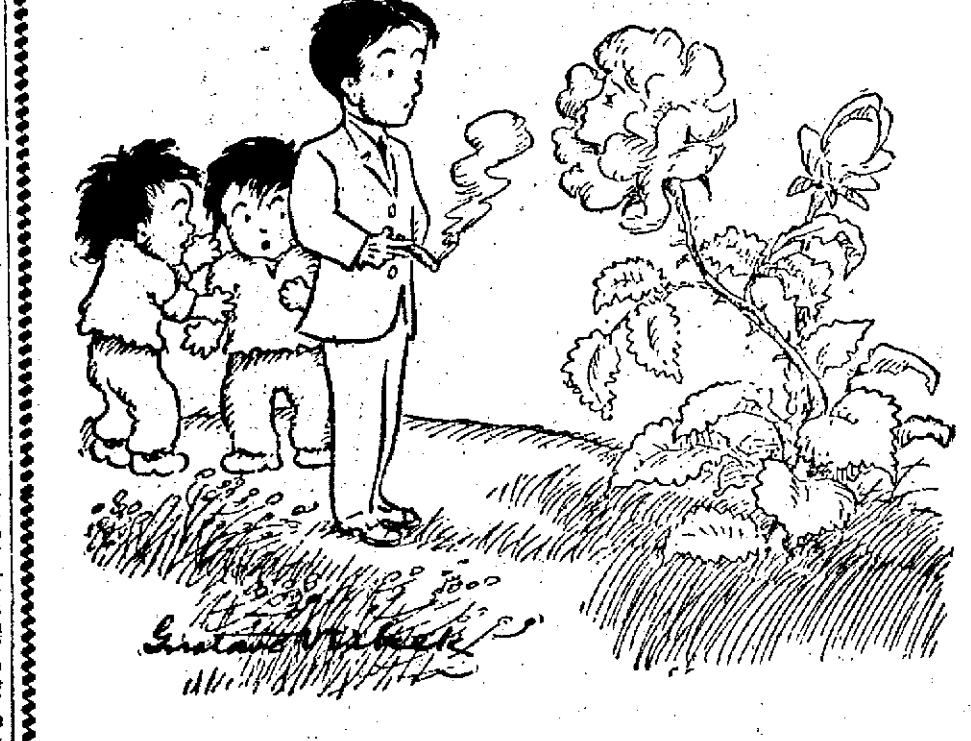

Nat C. Goodwin will be a welcome visitor at the Macdonough theater for four nights and Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday, June 6. Mr. Goodwin, who has been having some difficulty during the past two or three years in securing the best play in his many-sided personality, has, it is said, succeeded in securing the best play in his many-sided personality. It is a three-act farce comedy entitled "The Genius" and was written by William C. and Cecil de Mille. The former is the author of "Strong Heart," the drama in which Robert Edson has scored such a success. If all the pleas and things said about the "Genius" in advance are only nearly true, Mr. Goodwin is to be congratulated on having secured the best play in his many-sided personality. The play is a comedy, and the American players than Nat C. Goodwin, and his popularity is as great today as it was ever.

"The Genius" is a comedy-romance in three acts. It tells the story of artist life in New York, intertwined with farce. The hero, Jack Spencer, a wealthy young business man, thinks he is in love with Miss Van Dusen, a young woman of social position and artistic aspirations. She gives little encouragement to his devotion because he lacks artistic temperament. In despair he happens to visit the studios of three artists—La Mercurio, a painter, Vogelsberger, a pianist, and McGonagall, a sculptor. These artists are impetuous. Spencer appreciates them to take him as a pupil and suggests a scheme to them to aid his love. He will materially increase their incomes. He proposes to affix his own signature to their various artistic works and turn over to all the proceeds to them. They agree and he is discovered later by Percival Clutterbuck, an art critic, who is going to discover "the great American genius." Spencer is cornered by the critic and assumes the role of "the master" and the visitor is surprised to hear the three artists accept suggestions and instructions from him. Spencer strides about with a grandiloquent air of artistic pretension and believing he has discovered the master, announces that he must let the world know that "the great American genius" has been discovered.
